victims — and we don't want to harm anyone — but the man who stood against the people's wishes will bear full responsibility," general said.

Despite threats of military action to remove Presideot Franjieb, no action has been taken, and the President, who is a Christian, remained in his official residence on a bluff overlooking the city at Baabda.

Refuses Petition

President Franjieh's secretary refused to receive the official copy of the petition signed by 66 of the 99 members of Parliament calling for the President's resignation.

Mr. Franjieh, a 65-year-old political boss from the northern hill town of Zghorta, told visitors that he would leave the palece only as a dead man.

He seemed to be calling what has begun to look to some like a bluff by the shattered Lebanese military.

"If Franjieh doesn't resign, we will bring him down," Lieut. Ahmed al-Khatib, who heads the breakaway Lebanese Arao Army, said in the eastern Bekaa Valley. The lieuteoant, who descrited the army on Jan. 21 charging that the heavily Christian officer corps favored Lebanon's rightist parties, is reliably reported to have more troops that General Ahdab or the high command.

'All Officers, No Troops'

A Beirut-based general who is opposed to Mr. Franjieh said: "We have all the officers, but no troops." Some officers of the official national army, however, were reported to be promising logistic support to Lieutenant Khatib in his effort to remove President Franjieh.

President Franjieh.
The 33-year-oid lieutenant, a Moslem, said: "We support General Andab's move to bring Franjieh down, but our cooperation depends on our reform demands."

form demands."
Lieutenant Khatib has demanded that the splintered Leoanese Army, which once numbered 18,000, be thoroughly reorganized, that Lebanon be declared an Arab state and join the Arab "confrontation" with Israel and that the country's sectarian political system be put on a secular basis.

Battle Over Air Waves

In the absence of military moves, the Ahdab and Franjieh forces continued to do battle over the airwaves. The pro-Ahdab radio, which broadcasts from Beirut, reported that soldiers from the presidential guard had defected, but this was denied by the Franjieh station, which is near Zghorta.

The pro-Ahdab radio also reported that the right-wing

The pro-Ahdab radio also reported that the right-wing Maronite League bad called for the resignation of Mr. Franjieh, even though the main rightist Phalangist Party decried efforts to force the Preisdent from office and stressed its "adherence to constitutional legality."

After a six-hour meetiog the political bureau of the Pbalangists, while not actually endersing Mr. Franjieh, said that his resignation "would place Lebanon on the brink of the unknown."

A statement at the end of the meeting called on the army to close ranks and for Syria to resume its mediation in Leba-

on. Assad Defers Trip Abroad

The Syrian Government meanwhile announced that President Hafez al-Assad had decided to postpooe a visit to France, which was to have begun tomorrow, because of the situation in Lebanon. But Mr. Assad, who withdrew a high-level mediation mission from Lebanon hours before General Ahdab proclaimed himself military governor Thursday oight, bas oot reactivated the effort.

Kamel al-Assad, Speaker of the Lebanese Parliament, reported that Foreign Minister Abdel Halim Khaddam of Syria, who had headed the Syrian mission here, had telephooed him to be briefed on the situation. Mr. Assad was given oo hint that the Syrians would return soon.

Meanwhile, snipers contioued to work on the city's established lines of confrontation between Moslem and Christian Lebanese. A right-wing sniper firing from a hole high in the south face of the towering Holiday Inn killed five persoos.

The random quality of the sniping kept many people off the streets, though in safe quarters shops were open and there was light traffic. Beirut citizens have adapted to living without government, and the absence of policemen, courts, garbage collection, banks or other institutions seems almost normal

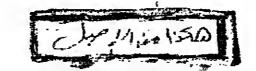

There is no government. President Franjieh controls little beyood the perimeter of his palace. # Swedish King's Fiancee Silvia Renate Sommerlath

By BERNARD WEINRAUB

Special to The New York Times STOCKHOLM -- Last sumife, when speculation was taf of Sweden was about to ennounce his engagement to tivia Renate Sommerlath, a West German, the King's uncle, Prince Bertil, told a Swedish maga-. .zine: "She has all the qualities a good queen needs. She ia friendly, wise and beautiful. She speaks several languages, sinong them Swedish.

Although the royal palace ild not make the expected announcement then, it has been widely assumed that the King would eventually marry his long-time companioo who was a hostess at the Munich Olympics and the daughter of a German businessman.

On Friday, the 29-year-old King presented Miss Sommer-lath with the engagement ing once worn by his moth-er, Princess Sibylla. The marriage is expected to take place in Stockholm in late spring or summer.

By some accounts, Miss Sommerlath's personality contrasts sharply with her future husband's. Whereas Sommerlath's King Carl Gustaf is a shy, taciturn and somewhat uneasy figure in public, Miss Sommeriath seems blunt, re-laxed and engaging. Friends say that she likes to wear blue jeans, is fond of imitat-iog celebrities and seems outgoing and confident.

Powerless Figurehead

The King himself-a figureliead without power — has said: "I would prefer my wife to be home and take care of the house and children." Miss Sommerlath's friends say that such a role would be improbable for her.

The King met Miss Som-merlath while she was serving as official hostess for visiting royalty during the 1972 Munich Olympics. She was also responsible for training 1.300 other hostesses and interpreters. Since then photographs of the two have appeared fre-quently in the Swedish press at Munich nightclubs such as Tiffany's: in Zermatt, the Swiss ski resort: during a hunt at Prince Otto von Bismarck's estate in the Sachsenwald; on trips abroad where they traveled together.

Speaks 7 Languages

Miss Sommerlath-who is 32, three years older than the king—is 5 feet 7 inches tall and has dark hair and brown eyes. She speaks German, English, French, Spanish, Portuguese, Italian and some Swedish. She will automatically become Queen of Sweden on her marriage but will have no constitutional right to stand in as regent if the king is ill or abroad. That ers, his formal assent is no longer required on legislation and his presence is not necessary at formal Cabinet meetings. Miss Semmerlath was born in Heidelberg on Dec. 23, 1945, the daugater of waither Sommerlath, former head of the Swedish Uddeholm Company in West Germany, and Brizilian-born Alice de Toledo, who comes from a Spanish noble family. From 1946 until 1957 Miss Sommerlath lived in São Paolo, Brazil, where her father headed a branch of Uddeholm, a steel company. In 1957 the family, which in-cludes three sons, returned to West Germany, and Miss Sommeriath attended schools in Düsseldorf and Munich, specializing in language stu-

Worked as interpreter

She worked as an interpreter at the Argentine consulate in Munich in 1969, and was later named chief host-ess of the organizing committee of the Olympic Games.
Ence 1971 the served as deputy head of protocol of the organizing committee for the winter olympics in Innsbruck, Austria.

Miss Sommerlath is a Protestant and comes from a family that has included many pastors. She is known to be fond of classical music —she plays the organ—and like the King enjoys skiing, water skiing and swimming.

The royal wedding will serve as Sweden's major social occasion of the year and European social calendar. The last Swedish monarch to marry as a king did so in 1797.

This message, so comforting for those whose ambitions are lofty and whose means are pedestrian, came this weekend from two profesaors addressing the annual conference of the Interpediate I linguistic Associa-

"The spelliog is absolutely chaotic—one might even say creative," noted a paper hy Louis G. Heller, professor of lassical languages and Hebrew at City College, and James Macris, professor of English and linguistics at Clark University.

Having begun their atudy as an exercise in Bicentennial piety, the professors were piety, the professors were abashed by their findings. In an interview, Professor Macris noted: "I think, to be blunt, that tha kind of writing you are in his earlier days is not that different in colleges today. If he were in colleges today. If he were in any course I taught on writ-ing he wouldn't be the star

Professor Heller added:

Washington appears to history as a relatively poorly educated youth by modern standards nearly illiterate-speaking a very provincial dialect full of lopressions even by the stand-ards of his own day."

Gross exaggeration, sug-gested Dooald Jackson, editor at the University of Virginia of the Washingtoo papers: "The rules for spelliog were loose, and he was a good speller for his time. Puncutation wasn't codified —it wasn't coosidered to he a matter of moment. He wasn't a Jefferson, but any-body who looks at bis prose in the context of the times will find that it was perfectly adequate."

Dorothy Twohig, the associate editor, agreed that Washington might have oeeded remedial writing for today's society. "But I wonder if the professors have looked at any other 18th-century writing," she said. "There seem to he no set rules, oo commonly accepted usage in the colonies and probably not in Britain either."

In fairness to Washington, Professors Heller and Macris "one must recognize that he did improve, and this improvement comes through even in periods when he did not have secretarial assistance. Yet the improvement is far greater when he did."

RAL DNESS

There are several U.S. airlines that can fly you somewhere out of the country.

But only Pan Am can fly you everywhere out of the country. To six continents, 61 countries, 91 cities.

Which should make things easy for you. Not only in choosing your airline, but in putting your trip together. And enjoying it.

If Europe's your pleasure this spring, we'll be the only U.S. airline flying only big, comfortable 747's to Europe.

If you're going to be crossing the wide Pacific, we'll have nothing but comfort for you there, too. Every flight will be a 747. Again, we'll be the only U.S. airline doing it.

In fact, on certain routes to the Orient we'll be flying the new 747 SP.

For the first time in history, you'll be able to fly from New York and Los Angeles to Tokyo, nonstop.

Going South? Way south to Latin America? We have more flights to more places in Latin America than any other airline.

And if you've really got it made, we're the one U.S. airline that can fly you all the way around the world. From either direction. Any day of the week. And on a trip like that you can rest assured it'll be by 747.

At Pan Am, you don't pay a penny extra for having the world at your fingertips. Or for having the world's largest fleet of 747's at your beck and call. And speaking of calling, why not call your travel agent for everything.

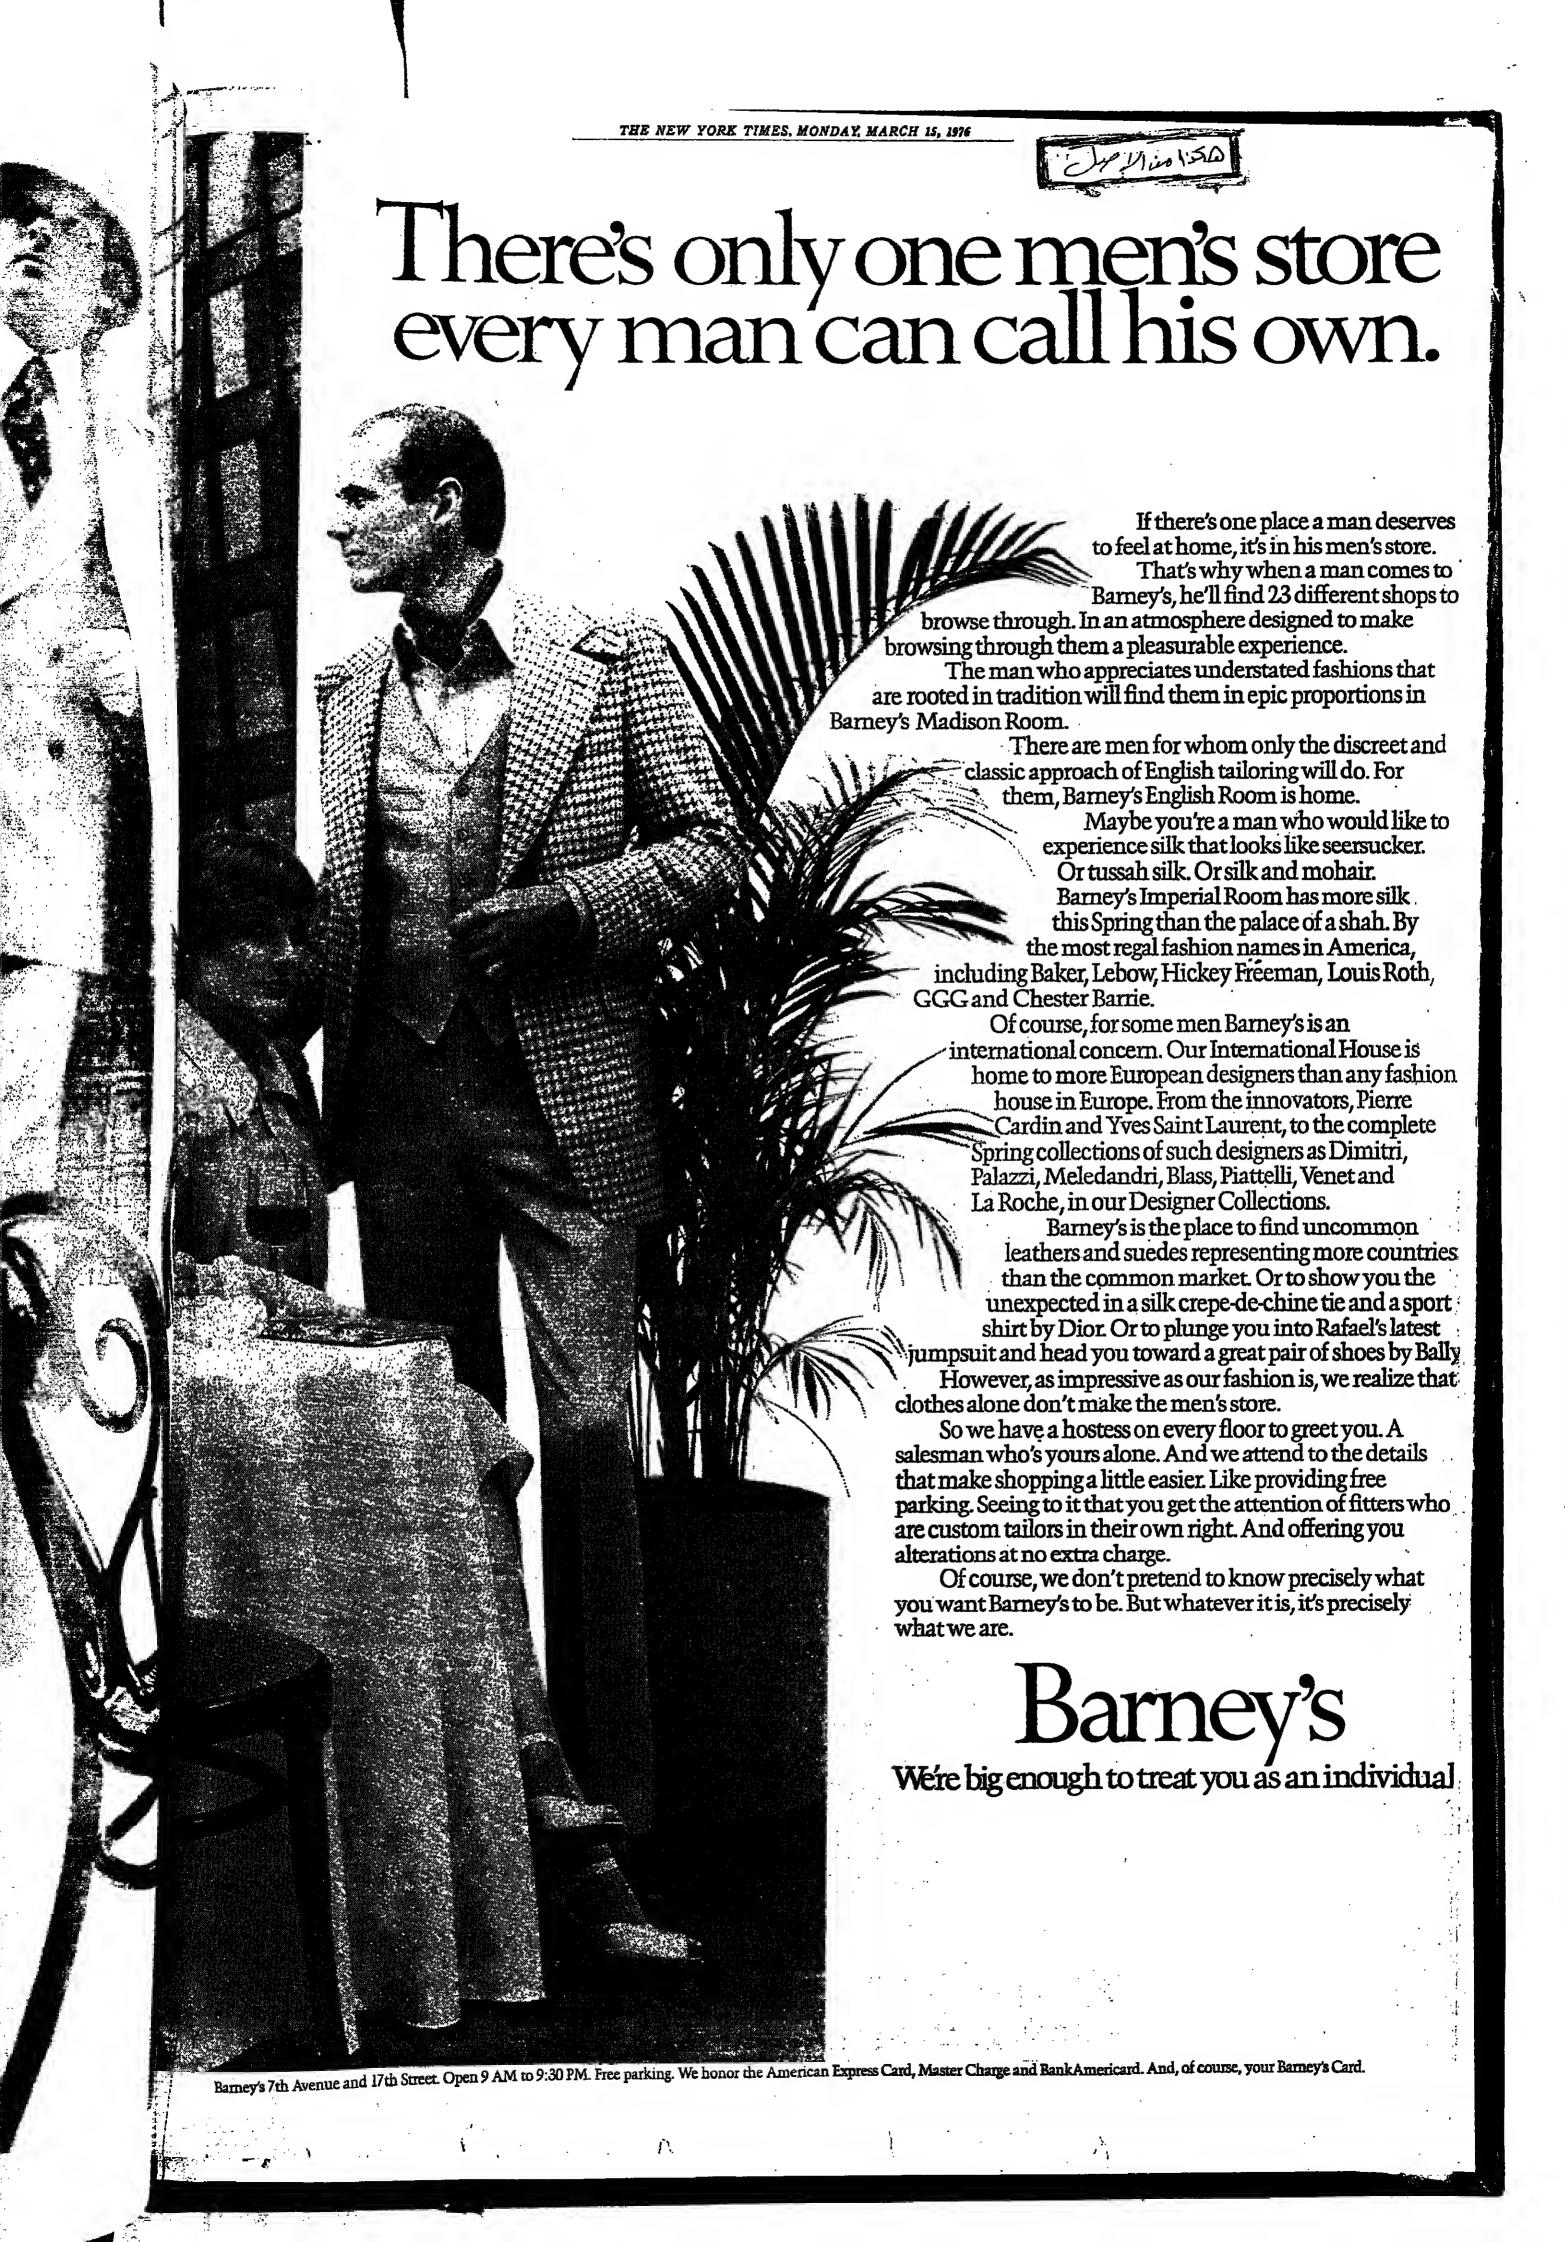

He'll work it all out with you. And most likely that won't cost you a penny extra either.

See your travel agent.

The controversy over the validity of designating poti-tions filed by New York candidates for Democratic Hational Convention delegates not only gave the Presidential primary here

SEU If you've got the time, we've got the savings.

If you can plan to stay at least 22 days and not more than 45 days visiting Europe, TWA can save you money. A lot of money. If you want to leave right away, our Excursion Fare can save you from 31% to 44% off the Economy Fare. If you can plan ahead, our APEX Fare can save you as much as 50%. Additionally, by really spending time in Europe your trip becomes a European experience, not just a brief vacation.

By charging these fares on your TWA Getaway* Card you can extend your payments over time.

Here's how the fares work:

TWA's 22-45 Day Excursion Fares

To qualify, buy your round-trip ticket before departure, stay at least 22 days and no more than 45. If you travel on Friday, Saturday or Sunday, there's a $15 surcharge each way.

TWA's APEX Fare

This fare has some additional conditions but you can save a lot more money. Purchase your confirmed round-trip ticket within 7 days of booking but at least 2 months before departure.

Once your APEX ticket has been issued, any changes before departure are subject to a $50 or 10% cancellation fee, whichever is higher. Should you change your plans en route where the return portion of your APEX ticket cannot be used, the entire APEX fare may be applied as a credit toward the purchase of any higher applicable fare.

Obviously, fares like these are going to be popular. And since seats on all APEX flights are limited, the sooner you book the better. So what are you waiting for? Just call your Travel Agent or TWA.

Save $19 to Boston or $23 to Washington on Eastern's Weekend Air-Shuttle.

This weekend, shuttle down to D.C. for a little sightseeing. (There are a lot of sights to see: The Capitol, the White House, and the Washington Monument.)

Or shuttle up to Boston for a little fun. (Throw tea from the Boston Tea Party ship, or try something new for dinner in Old City Hall.) All for as little as $45* round-trip.

And for little ones, the fare is even littler. Children 2 to 12 fly round-trip for just $30. (Fares not effective April 16-18.) At these prices, you don't have to wait for a wedding or a birthday just to visit your friends and relatives.

All you have to do is catch an outgoing

Air-Shuttle flight at 8 pm or later on Friday, and catch a return flight before midnight on Sunday, the same weekend. On weekends an Air-Shuttle flight leaves LaGuardia almost every hour on the hour to Washington from 8 am to 9 pm. And to Boston from 8 am to 10 pm. (You don't even need a reservation. Just show up.) The same $45 is also good on one of our scheduled flights from Newark that require reservations.

Last of Mine Blast Victims Buried After Service in Kentucky Mountains

By WAYNE KING BENHAM, Ky., March 14-This mining community burted 23-year-old Virgil Coots today, the last of 15 miners killed in a mine explosion Tuesday to be laid to rest.

His blue metal coffin. strewn with white cornations and red roses, was closed and a gold-framed picture rested on top. Mr. Coots was the foreman of a mining crew in Scotia Coal Company's No. 1 mine. He took the brunt of the This man is laying here," said the Rev. Claude Ely of the Pentacostal Church of God in Cold Springs, Ky. "He's laying here and we can't even the cofficients." can't even open the coffin and look at him, we've got to look at a picture setrin' on top of the coffin."

But Mr. Ely voiced no bitterness in the funeral ceremony in a white frame funeral home chapel herc. Instead, he talked of abiding faith and spiritual renewal, of the rock-hard beliefs that have sustained miner families during the dual disasters that killed 26 men. He talked of that and of the inevitability of death, quoting from the Book of Ecclesiastes:

"The everything there is a season, and a time to every purpose under the heaveo: a time to be born, and a time to die; a time to plant, and a time to pluck up that which is planted."

About 150 mourners, men in open-collared shirts, wo-tened quietly, punctuating the sermon with amens and thanks for the love of Jesus.

"Those who are laid out these hillsides," intoned Mr. Ely, his voice rising and modulating into the harsh clutching shouting delivery that is the mark of the mountain pentacostal preacher,
"they, when there comes the sound of the trumper, they will arise again."

The men, he said, "had their lives puffed out of them, like you would take a doll and mash it together" - he clapped his hands together—"mash it and crush the life out of it. Just that and they were gone . . . Wives left widowed, children orphaned, no dadly left to men in simple dresses, lis- work for the little children, mothers hearts are broken." But this, he said, could be a time of rejoicing, because the dead went to

"avenues of gold to drink from the pure waters of life in the company of God, leaving behind a war-plagued, sin-torn, a murdering world." In a voice quavering like the wind howling through the mountain passes, another rreacher, the Rev. Robert Gladson, Brother Bob to the congregation, of the Primi-tive Baptists, sang and played a steel string guitar. He said that later, as he sang, be had in mind not just the man he was belping to bury, or the three others he had buried the day before, but also the 11 who remained

The coffin, glistening in the brilliant sun, was put into a black hearse and a procession started down the blackton road past rhododeodrons and mountain laurel not yet in bloom, past the red buds and the flowering quince and golden forsythia, up a moun-tain road and up to an open grave where they lowered him ioto the earth.

It took 75 years to put these pieces together.

Now some politicians want to take them apart.

There are people who want to dismember America's integrated oil companiesthose companies that do the whole job from exploration through marketing.

Today, more than 50 integrated oil companies compete for your business. Hundreds of firms compete in various phases of the industry-exploration, production, refining, transportation, and marketing.

What would happen if the oil companies were taken apart? Ironically, prices would goup, not down. A so-called breakup would destroy the efficient integrated system and create a need for a new layer of costly and unnecessary "middlemen." Additionally, the chaos created by such a breakup would make it tougher for the industry to attract the capital it needs. Millions of Americans in oil and oil-related industries could lose their job security. Technical advances would be slowed down. Money needed to search for new supplies would dry up.

The result? Less domestic oil would be available. increasing our dependence on foreign oil. America could be weakened. You, the consumer would be less certain of getting the oil—the automotive gasoline and homeheating fuel and other products you need-when you need it, while paying more for what you get.

Before it's decided to take apart the oil companies—let's find out just who would benefit. We firmly believe it wouldn't be you.

We're working to keep your trust.

Playing a shelk in the film "Lawrence of Arabia," Alec Guinness remarked that "the English have a great hunger for desolate places." Miss Christic shows us why: A desolate place is a tabula rasa, just waiting for a poem of some sort to be written on it. And this is precisely what she does: "Come, Tell Mc How You Live" is a busman's holiday in which she probes for motives without the cramping necessity for o crime.

How arbitrary, how overbearing, we Westerners are, she suggests, when we insist that a rational approach is the only approach to life. Not one of the Mallowans' native crew suffers from this gross oversimplification. Their chauffeur, for example, does not fill the gas tank before beginning a long drive across the desert for two very interesting reasons: It is uneconomical to buy so much gas, and he is anxious to see how far the machine will go with the needle on a quarter taok. Oo first being offered jobs, their native crewmen asked: "But what can we buy with money? We have enough food." Their foreman, Mosul, cannot understand why Miss Christie refuses to witness the hanging of a woman who poisoned three husbands. After all, what greater drama is there than death itself? Besides, this is a woman like herself—and one of such character!

The Nun Who Wasn't

A nun, wearing a black habit and a lorge gold cross, approaches Miss Christie's hus-band and delivers a grave oration. The author supposes she is asking for a donation to support her order. On the contrary. She is not a nun, but the proprietor of a brothel, One of Sir Max's workers has misbehaved on her premises, and she has come to ask for damages. A very old man, passing by, stops to ask the archeologist's came. On hearing it, he pronounces it several times. "How light!" he says. How bright! How beautiful!" and he walks away turning over "Mallowan" oo his tongue. The evenings are oever dull. Like the Freoch poet, Francis Ponge, who describes a pebble for 15 pages, their native fore-man expatiates on his constipation, Miss Christie has learned that it is necessary, for the honor of the expedition, for her to postulate a number of fictive children and an even greater number of miscarriages. Since her Arabic is not adequate to the occasioo, she mimes her tragedies and triumphs with great expressiveness.

"Come, Tell Me How You Live" is more than a charming entertainment. Miss Christie has done her detective work here, too, and discovered that, with regard to living, there are many of us who cannot guess whodunit and who didn't.

Make-or-Break Session

The 1,200 delegates from 156 nations who are meeting in New York today to begin a make-or-break session of the Third United Nations Conference on the Law of the Sea bear a beavy responsibility. Their decisions-or lack of decision-will affect not only the 70 percent of the earth that is covered by water but could have farreaching consequences for the future of international cooperation in all areas.

If the conference succeeds in creating a new body of oceans law, with institutions to administer it, the way will be cleared for orderly exploitation of the wealth of the sea and the seabed. As world population continues to grow and land-based resnurces to dwindle, mankind will become increasingly dependent on these vast food and mineral resources.

In addition, success in this most ambitious and complex international negotiation would establish precedents and procedures for other international undertakings, breathing new life into a demoralized world organization.

If the delegates fail during the next two months to reach substantial agreement on a comprehensive oceans treaty, however, the world faces what Lord Richie Calder has predicted will become "the biggest smash and grab since the European powers . . . carved up black Africa." The United Nations will have been delivered another stunning setback.

Despite the agonizing pace of its previous sessions in Caracas in 1974 and in Geneva last year, the conference has come a long way toward identifying and understanding issues of staggering complexity. It appears to he approaching consensus in some key areas. For example, the single negotiating texts tentatively compiled by committee chairmen at the close of the Geneva meetings point to broad agreement on a 12-mile territorial sea and a 200-mile "economic zone," with provision for "unimpeded" passage through straits and traditional free passage through the new economic zone.

More needs to be done, however, to insure full utilization of fish stocks at sound conservation levels; to secure the rights of "geographically disadvantaged" states; to strengthen pollution controls; to protect and encourage scientific research, and to provide for some international sharing of revenues produced from oil-tich seahed areas heyond the 200-mile limit but within the continental

The most contentious issue that remains to he settled concerns the nature and powers of a new regime to be established for the deep seahed. The resolution of this impasse, and of other outstanding questions, requires a retreat from ideological rigidities that have plagued this conference from the beginning, and a recognition by each nation that its own long-term interests will be best served hy accommodations for the common good.

Argentina at the Brink

A Buenos Aires newspaper says the Government's drastic measures to curh galloping inflation mark "the end of a way of life in Argentina." Many Argentines are wondering whether the emergency program may not also bring to an early end the presidency of the beleaguered Isabel Martinez de Perón.

Extreme measures are clearly overdue in a country where the inflation rate reached 335 percent for 1975 and the Government must somehow raise more than a billion dollars hy May to keep foreign creditors at bay. But the program projected by Economy Minister Emilio Mondelli has had the unusual result of provoking strikes by both industrial workers and national business organizations, both angered by a 180-day wage-price freeze.

The anti-inflation effort clearly puts additional pressures on the ties between Mrs. Peron and the trade unions, whose support is essential to her survival in office. That relationship had already been severely strained last month when the unions pushed through the Peronist party's National Council a demand that the Presideot replace her Cabinet.

Mrs. Perón survived an impeachment drive in the Congress two weeks ago, mostly because dissidents in her own party saw the move as an attack on the whole Peronist movement and feared such a drastic action might bring on a military coup. However, the dissidents might well support an effort to persuade the President to resign.

So far, Mrs. Perón bas rejected all suggestions that she quit the office into which she was catapulted on the death of her busband twenty months ago. But with terrorist activity and economic disintegration continuing unabated and her political base eroding, the bewildered and tragic figure in the Casa Rosada may be forced very soon to choose hetween resignation under the Constitution and overthrow by the armed forces.

Day Care Savings

The provisions of the Social Security Act which support child care programs may be substantially nullified unless the House acts favorably on a bill which provides funds to bring local day care programs up to the standards required by Federal law.

Most states were already severely strapped for social services money when, in 1974, Congress enacted mandatory standards for federally assisted day care facilities covering such matters as health, nutrition and staff-child ratios. The trouble was that Congress failed to provide funds to help the states meet those standards and, as the time for putting them into effect approached, many programs were in danger of heing cut off. To meet that prohlem, Senator Russell B. Long of Louisiana drafted a bill to provide the money and added strong incentives for programs to hire people off the welfare rolls.

There is now some reluctance in the House-bolstered by menacing noises from the White House-to act favorahly on the measure because it will cost $125 million for the balance of this fiscal year. That is a pound-far ish view hecause in addition to serving nearly two million children, the program belps shave welfare costs. The director of Social Services in Georgia has estimated that its implementation in his state alone will produce an overall saving of $2 million. The House ought not to miss this rare opportunity to do good and save money at the .

Protectionist Threat...

Little nuticed by must Americans, exports from the United States in this decade have soared steadily to the staggering total of $107 billion a year, three times the output of the whole automobile industry. Even during the recession the figure continued to rise. Sales abroad bave climbed from 4 percent of the gross national product to 7.5 percent; if services are excluded, these sales represented about 20 percent of the goods produced in the United States, with factory and farm products predominating.

In these circumstances, the decisions now being pressed on President Ford by industry and labor to restrict imports of shoes and specialty steels-inviting retaliation against American exports by the Common Market, Sweden and Japan-must be seen for what they are. They constitute an indirect attack against one of the biggest and fastest growing sectors of the American economy—the export trade—which has been the main source of employment growth during the slumo.

This consideration does not figure in the recommendations for steel import quotas and for steep increases in shoe tariffs made to the President by the United States International Trade Commission (formerly the Tariff Commission). The LT.C. mandate calls only for a judgment as to whether complaining American industries have heen injured by imports.

President Ford must act on the steel recommendations by tomorrow and take a decision on shoe imports a month later. The President has the option of accepting the LT.C. recommendations or of ruling that the national interest requires him to reject or modify them. In the latter case, the Congress can override his decision hy majority vote in each house within ninety

Both the President and Congress must consider that other American husinessmen and workers-and American consumers-will have to pay the price if action is taken to shield the specialty steel and shoe industries from foreign competition.

. Bilateral Peril

The peril in the pending decision on stainless and tool steels, affecting less than a tenth of the industry's output. is that it is seen by all parties as steel industry as a whole—and for other industries. Producers of primary steel products, such as sheet and structural steel, are also seeking import restrictions as are dozens of other businesses and trade unions. The 1974 Trade Act, under four different headings, has invited this plethora of complaints by easing the requirements for proving injury or foreign unfair trade practices.

Apart from the impact on the American economyand the likelihood that a surge of American protectionism would halt the new round of trade liheralization talks under way at GATT in Geneva-the political effect in Italy of a rise in the shoe tariff cannot he ignored. Onethird of the $1 hillion of shoes imported annually by the United States comes from Italy.

The United States has contributed to the depth of the recession in Italy and the Common Market as a whole hy its failure to buy as much in West Europe as it is selling there; it ran an $8 hillion trade surplus with the European Economic Community last year, four times the 1958-1972 annual average.

Depression and unemployment in Italy. France and other southern European countries have increased the danger of Communist accession to power. It would be self-defeating for the United States to deliver two new body blows to European recovery by restricting imports of shoes and steel. The end result of a new trade war would be to kill jobs on both sides of the Atlantic.

Chlorophyll Competitor

Behind the dizzying variety of plant and animal life on this planet lies the essential process of photosynthesis. This is the process through which all life taps the energy of the sun as plants combine light, water and carbon dioxide to form those energy-rich compounds we call carbohydrates. Used as food, carbohydrates ultimately make possible all forms of animal life, including the human species. Because it is so central a life process, photosynthesis has been studied for years, intensively and successfully: sn it is astonishing to be informed now of the discovery of a variant means by which some bacteria tap solar energy, a technique which is at least a limited form of photosynthesis. Until now photosynthesis has been inseparably linked with the green chlorophyll pigment found in leaves and blades of grass. The present surprise is that there is another pigment, this one purple in color, that can also tap the energy of the sun and convert it into usable energy as does chlorophyll. Most remarkably, this is not some exotic compound but rather a bacterial form of the familiar pigment rhodopsin which, under the name of "visual purple," has long heen known to be part of the human retina and to facilitate night vision.

Already scientists are talking about possible applications of this chlorophyll competitor; and chances appear to be good that some day rhodopsin-powered cells will help desalinate water and perform other energy-intensive tasks. But whether this discovery turns out to be useful or not, it must still inspire awe as one more indication of how much more splendidly complex the miraculous world of nature is than earlier generations could even

New York City's 'Stark Realities'

. If New York City wants to save itself it had better face the stark realities of the situation. Welfare recipients. labor unions and politicians are not the backbone of this city. The indigent, the ill and the homeless are not the backbone of this city.

Businesses and businessmen are the backbone of this city and we better realize that immediately. These are the people that this city must cater to, not chase away.

It's a peculiar thing, businessmen don't picket demonstrate, strike or burn down the city—they simply move nut. And when they move they leave behind empty buildings, empty pay envelopes and emoty dreams (for themselves and their employees). Most of all they leave behind a dwindling tax base.

And what do they take? They taketheir talents, money, dreams and schemes and invest these things somewhere else. That somewhere else, by the way, is a place where these businessmen get red carpet treatment. the French Academy, Flora Lewis writes that "bistro," everybody's favorite, was brought [into the French language] by the Russians in 1914," but that the academy's current secretary, Jean Mistler, "didn't know what it came from in Russian."

The answer is: It came from bystro, the Russian word for quick or quickly. The widely accepted belief is that the year of its entry into the French language was not 1914 but 1814, the time nf the post-Napoleonic occupation nf Paris by the victorious troops of Czar Alexander L The story goes that certain jolly sectors of Paris with their drinking places were put out of bounds for Cossacks and other Russian soldiers by their commanders. Naturally disobeying, singly and in small groups, the thirsty Russians would sneak into taverns, point at bottles on the shelves and call out to proprietors, "Bystro! Bystro!"-to make fast purchases before patrols would catch them. And so taverns became histros. The word is also used for wine merchants and restaurant keepers.

Dr. William J. Ronan cited that agency's expenditures on PATH and huses as evidence of its current dedication to mass transportation under his leadership. But in 1972 Dr. Ronan criticized the Port Authority for favoring the hond market over mass transportation and rejected as inadequate the types of expenditures be now cites as proof of the Port Anthority's commitment to mass transportation.

In 1972, the Port Authority also defended itself against Dr. Ronan by citing the 1962 Covenant preventing use of Port Authority funds for any mass roll purpose other than PATH, a restriction it bad lobbied through the legislatures. Although the covenant was repealed in 1974, it still has the force of law as the result of a suit attacking the constitutionality of repeal brought by the U.S. Trust Company as the Port Authority's handpicked spokesman for bondholders Dr. Ronan should have mentioned the suit in defending his administration since no Port Authority funds can be legally spent on mass rail transportation as even though a trial court in New Jersey ruled that the suit had no merit and the New Jersey-Supreme Court affirmed on appeal 7 tn 0. Perhaps Dr. Ronan omlitted this defense since, with his concurrence, the Port Authority is paying all of the costs of the litigation. This strange use of public funds to subsidize an attack on laws the commissioners are sworn to uphold results from a provision the Port Authority put in its hond contracts in 1973 when repeal loomed as a distinct possibility. So far the Port Authority has paid out $1 million, and the trust company is asking for more in finance an appeal to the United States Supreme Court despite the unanimous findings of the courts that the bondholders were in no way injured hy repeal.

Dr. Ronan would make a more persuasive case for Port Authority accomplishment under his leadership if he gets the Port Authority to discontinue support of these payments. THEODORE W. KHEEL

Recent Federal legislation, reinforced by United States Supreme Court decisions protecting the right of citizens to collectively pursue their rights of legal representation, will encourage lahor unions and consumer groups to establish legal-service programs. Both the laws and lawyers must be prepared to accommodate to this development. Lawyers need not be reluctant to initiate a strong campaign to carry out such a program, simply hecause it

Admittedly, the concept of prepaid legal services is only beginning to be carried out and, accordingly, requires great flexibility so as to allow different systems to reach all parts of the population according to their differing needs.

There are many groups and agencies in both the private and public sectors that believe that these plans will fulfill an honest and legitimate purpose of increasing the availability of legal services to the many Americans who are now unserved.

Should those that have the most at stake-unions and consumer groups, state insuraoce departments and state

The legal profession has too much at stake to allow the initiative to go by default. Soon the voices of neglected middle-income Americans will supersede the special interests of influential groups, and the changes that everyone knows are necessary will finally take effect on a far-reaching scale. And who can predict what will remain after those winds of change have run their conrse?

Meanwhile, Rumania, Yugoslavia and the Ukraine do not theniselves grant to their Hungarians the rights they insist Israel must give to the Pales-

Admittedly, the foregoing is a non-Communist point of view. Surely the governments of all the five East European Communist countries with Hungarian populations could easily come forward with testimony proving that Hungarians everywhere are happy with conditions as they are. And, for that matter, the last thing any Hungarian in his right mind would want is a Palestinian-style violent expression of Hungarian dissatisfaction with existing conditions.

Hungary, to be sure, has come a long way since Soviet arms brutally crushed its uprising against Soviet tyranny in 1956. The onetime traitor to that revolution, Janos Kadar, is now considered the architect of Russo-Hungarian compromise. Under their relatively liberal brand of Communism, the Hungarians are even the envy of some of the less-fortunate Soviet-bloc peoples.

All the achievements of the Kadar compromise, bowever, exist at the sufferance of the Russians, since Hungary remains under Soviet occupation. Furthermore, improved conditions inside Hungary in the last ten years or so cannot make Hungarians forget the miseries of their fellow Hungarians in the four neighboring countries, especially in Rumania and in Czechoslovakia where their treatment is the worst

Hungarians cannot be hlamed for not liking to be cut in five parts and having a quarter of their numbers degraded to the humiliating status of minority. The "regional accommodation" of West Europe's minorities, which prompted Flora Lewis of The New York Times to report recently that the "repression of ancient ethnic groups is ending," unfortunately does oot apply to East Europe's Hungarian minorities. Only Communist Yugoslavia, whose treatment of Hungarians has always been relatively liberal, has made some progress toward genuine regionalism.

All East European Communist countries are virulently nationalistic and, with the sole exception of Yugoslavia, provide only phony forms of regional-່າຣຕາ for national minorities. The Rumanians and Slovaks in particular are unreformed practitioners of aggressive assimilation against their Hungarian minorities. This is a paradox in itself, since Communist East Europe proudly proclaims itself purged of the crimes of oppressive bourgeois nationalism

Meanwhile, groups much smaller even than the Hungarian national minorities are acquiring not merely regional rights in the decolonized parts of the world but full national independence with membership in the United Nations. The Palestinians are next in line to achieve this. The Palestinians of the Arah Middle East most likely will he in possession of their inalienable rights well before the Hungarians in the Soviet orbit.

And, if the Arabs remember what Mr. Kadar's Hungary did for the Palestinians, won't they one day perhaps urge the United Nations to form a Committee on the Exercise of the Inalienable Rights of the Hungarian

Good Old Reliable Nixon

By Anthony Lewis

BOSTON, March 14-With all the upsetting changes in life these days, we need something to count on-one thing that remains forever the same. And so it was with a feeling of gratitude that we opened the papers last week to read once more the thoughts of Richard Nixon.
He did not let us down. There was that reassuringly familiar mixture of treacle and venom, whining selfjustification and insult, moralizing and lawlessness, Heepish deference and lofty condescension. Not since repertory melodrama has there been so reliable a stage villain.

Yes, it is good to have old Nixon around again. He provides us with a touchstone of political conduct. If we complain about the dreariness of this year's Presidential candidates, he helps us remember how much worse things could be. One creepy touch of Nixon in the night, and Scoop Jackson looks like King Harry at Harfleur.

Some people still mind about Nixon. They read his lecture to the Senate intelligence committee about "maintaining the delicate balance between freedom and security," and they suffer a seizure of the stomach. My own notion is that we can relax and let him babble. It costs nothing but the taxes he stole from us to live like a king, and anyway he promised to leave us San Clemente in his will. Just like be promised to pay the $148,000 he owes on his 1969 income tax.

If I had to pick a favorite passage in last week's Nixon documents, it would be in his deposition for the wiretap lawsuit by Morton Halperin. He spoke of a study of the F.B.I. done at "Princeton, one of the smaller Ivy League colleges and a very good one, too, after Woodrov Wilson made it that way, even though he never attended." Making sure the world understands that he knows all about Princeton! Vintage Nixon.

Then there was his answer to the Senate committee's question about why he had suddenly withdrawn his approval of the Houston Plan for illegal entries, mail openings and surveillance of American citizens. John Mitchell told him, Nixon said, that J. Edgar Hoover thought such methods might "generate media criticism." Twice in the answer Nixon spoke of the risk of "disclosure." As always, he worried not about the legal or moral substance but about how it would look. Wonderful!

The Senate Committee also asked whether he thought "actions otherwise illegal may be legally undertaken" if a President deems them necessary to protect the national security. That is a little like asking Typhoid Mary for advice on communicable diseases, but let it pass.

Nixon said it was "ouite obvious" that certain actions that would he illegal "if undertaken by private persons" would be lawful if done in the interest of national security 'by the sovereign." The Framers of the Constitution did not think they were making the Executive sovereign. Gouverneur Morris said of the President. "This magistrate is not the king . . . the people are the king." But Nixon, in perfect consistency with his record, spoke of the President as ruler. Then he went on to cite such past examples of Presidential action in war as Lincoln's blockade of the South, Franklin Roosevelt's relocation of the nisei in World War II, Truman's seizure of the steel industry. But all those, wrong as they may have been. were actions taken in the open. They were therefore susceptible to the pressure of public opinion, correction by Coogress and legal action.

The whole point of secret wiretaps, break-ins, assassination plots and the like is that they are covert acts, not subject to check by law or politics. Once officials believe they have the right to violate the law in secret. you are on the road to Watergate, And it is gloriously characteristic of Nixon to overlook, or rather obscure, that point.

The part where it became less easy to smile was when Nixon spoke enthusiastically about his and Henry Kissinger's policy of bombing Cambodia in secret. It "saved American lives," he said. Is it possible that anyone can still defend policies that destroyed Cambooia's society, killed a tenth of her people and led her to her present tyranny? Is there no limit to this creature's remorseless defense of his own wounded ego?

Of course there is no limit to the brazenness of Richard Nixon, We need not pay any attention to that. What we need to understand more deeply is not his character but our commitment to law.

When Gerald Ford pardoned Nixon some usually sensible persons said that was a good idea because it would "put Nixon behind us." Lately those same persons bave denounced Nixon for shamelessly thrusting himself back into public view, But they do not understand. The only way to "put Nixon behind us" would have been to follow the law to the end; to show that we believed in law above power. We shall pay forever for compromising that principle in the shameless pardon of a shameless man.

discussions that made their leader look brilliant and masterful. Perhaps some future file clerk in the State Department will attach this paragraph to the letters of reprimand placed in their personnel foldars: Roy Atherton and Hal Saunders did not take any action without authorization. They were carrying out specific directions from Henry Kissinger when they leaked foreign policy discussions to Foreign Policy magazine. Mr. Atherton's "voluntary" confession, like Comrade Rubashov's in "Darkness at Noon," is the result of intense psychological pressure mixed with profound confusion about what is now patriotic. An honorable Secretary would never bave induced his men to walk the plank in his behalf. A Stimson, a Dulles, or a Rusk would have said, caused the leak, I was mistaken, I have submitted my resignation, now it's np to tha President—and my subordinates are not to be hlamed for doing precisely what they knew I wanted them to do." Instead, the Kissinger men were "investigated" by their boss and "reprimanded" in a charade that destroys more of the Ford Administration's moral position than the President real-

Mr. Saunders is no newcomer to the cover-for-Henry characle. The former C.I.A. man was the State Department . official chosen last Nov. 12 to undermine the Israelis with a prepared statement that the United States believed the Palestine Liberation Organization was ready to coexist with Israel.

Asked to explain this change in U.S. position at a Senate hearing, Secretary Kissinger pooh-poohed the Saunders statement as an "academic exercise" in theories "as Mr. Saunders saw them."

The truth, however-which could be attested to under oath by at least three officials—was that the paragraph Mr. Kissinger disavowed as the meanderings of a low-level aide was in-serted in the Saunders statement by the Secretary himself.

And what happened to Mr. Saunders after he supposedly committed this gaffe, which was disavowed by his boss? He was promoted to head the State Department intelligence division. A few more such reprimands and he will be a cinch for Under Secretary.

Mr. Kissinger will get away with these deceptions as long as Mr. Ford permits his surrogate political speaker to do so. He testified that he was not the source of secret SALT data in "Cold Dawn," and that was not true. He testified he was not the sonrce of the Saunders-P.L.O. shocker, and that was not true. He says he was not the source of the current leaks of secret conversations, and that is not true.

To assert in print that his two fallguy aides are fall guys, says a Kissinger spokesman, is "beyond the pale." Since when—in the candid, houest, forthright, decent Ford Administration -is telling the simple truth to be condemned, and perpetrating an obvious fraud to be permitted?

"Ye shall know the truth, and the truth shall make you free." That message is now echoing through the corridors of power and through the corridors of the Ritz-Cariton, even unto the man in the 26th room.

When 120,000 marchers including 193 bands and representing 240 trish organizations are all vying to be "up front" there have to be no-shenanigans rules.

That's why placeting for this week's big parade—America's oldest angual march—bases just two weeks.

America's oldest annual march-began just two weeks after the 1975 affair. Top officers sat down then to discuss what was right and what was wrong last March 17. The Crusty Marshal

James J. Comerford, a retired Criminal Court judge, a native of County Kilkenny who came here a half-cen-lury ago and has been parade chairman since 1966, fixes the line of march and insists on those provisos. For 10 years before becoming chairman he had the No. 2 post, chairman of formations.

A self-disciplined man, the judge can be crusty in defending Irish-Americaos against "bigots" and in curbing rambunctious trish-Americans in the parade.

Faithful Meet to Rescue Van Buren From Obscurity

dal to The New York Times NEW PALTZ, N. Y.-When Orin Lehman, New York State Commissioner of Parks and Recreation, was invited to a conference here this weekend on Martin Van Buren, he wondered if this was downstate New York's answer to Buffalo's promoting Millard Fillmore's claim to be the nation's worst President. For the three-day gathering, which ended Saturday at the State University College here, Dr. Lehman visualized an audience of 3,000, and prepared his remarks carefully: he spoke to a mul-titude of 27.

Prominent was Walter L. Ferree, marking his retire-meot as editor of the Van Buren papers, though not re-signing as champion of Vao Buren memory.

It was Dr. Ferree who pre vailed on a professor at New Paltz, Donald M. Roper, to organize this conference on The Times and Life of Martin Van Buren," but it was Professor Roper who maintained a scholarly balance on the eighth President, "I think he's important." he said,

"but not that Important." Van Buren (1782 to 1862) was born and oled in Kinderhook, N.Y. He picked up fundamentals of politics not as school, which he quickly abandoned, out in his father's tavern. His postgraduate political schooling came when he served as a clerk for a lawyer, sweeping the floors, sharpening the quills, learning the law. His full flowering arrived in perpetual races for office.

He served as a State Senator and Alterney General, United States Senator, New York Governor, United States Secretary of State, Minister to Britain, Vice President and then President. Through his own gifts and contributions of his enemies he became known as the Master Spirit and as Little Van—he is said to have reached 5 feet 6 inches, though at this week's conference Prof. Joseph G. Rayback of Temple University called that the height of exaggeration.

Van Buren was also called the Little Magician. Andrew Jackson, whom he served adroitly with shrewd advice and faultless bedside manner, said Van Buren's only wand, was common sense, and called his friend "o true mon, with no guile,"

Too charming to despise, too calculating to love, Van Buren never wavered in loyalty to his own ambitions. Virginia's John Randolph sald of him that he "rowed to his object with muffled oars." In political dealings devious and sometimes hypocritical, Van Buren had a heart of gold in off-hours, Henry Clay said he respected the man and detested the magistrate.

Amiable to a fault, Van Buren bore up under assault with equanimity, even when he was described as a corseted dandy who swaggered like a crow in a gulter. "Why the deuce is it that they have such a liching for a hariogeneral statement of the statement such an Itching for abusing me?" he wondered, "I try to be harmless, and positively cided friend of peace."
Professor Rayback, who is writing a biography of the man, confessed that he had trouble establishing the facts of Van Buren's private life, and called him a square. Confronted with the suggestion that his favorite subject was devious, Dr. Feree countered:

Van Buren found patronage when it was still in its swaddling clothes and made it the national uniform, defining his policy not as the spoils sys-tem but as "rotation in office." He pulled at every wire, straddled every fence, squirmed from every issue. To be noncommital was called "vanburenish"-whether on slavery or suffrage or finance. The story was told of a Senator whn tried to trap him into committing himself, and said it was rumored that the sun rises in the East; Van Buren said this was generally held, but he had never been up before dawn to check. When Van Buren told the story on himself in his autobiography, he did not commit himself on whether it was true or false.

If anyone deserves oblogoy electoral American paigns-the hoopla and hnneyed words, the evasions and deceits-it is Van Buren, paragon of pols.

Mantle of Statesmanship It was only when he finally reached his ultimate goal —the Presidency—that he found the mantle of statesmanship occasionally fitting As Prof. Richard M. Pious of Barnard noted here. Van Buren stalwartly opposed America's expansionism—refusing to annex Texas or go to war with Mexico and seeking peace even with Britain. The more he gained in statesmanship the less he retained of his political touch. "Van. Van. he's a used-up man," crowds chanted in 1840, when he ran against William Henry Harrison, a miitary hero. A popular verse

Who like the wily serpent clings?
Who like the poisonous adder stings?
Who is more base than hasest

VAN BUREN! VAN BUREN! As a founding father of the Democratic Party, Van Buren had obtained the nomination as his due, and took defeat in the Presidential election as in the Presidental of the undeserved. In 1844, even the nomination slipped from his grasp; then four years later he did not even come close.

Wounded Equanimity He nursed his wounded equanimity in Kinderhook, where he had bought a local mansion and raised it to grandeur by calling it Lindenwald and engulfing its Geor-gian lines beneath waves of Gothic, Italian, French and Gingerbread. He embellished his own line with a pedigree from forward Dutch forebears. But Van Buren's dreams of making Lindenwald a shrine, like Jefferson's Monticello and Jackson's Monuceno and Jackson's Hermitage, never found public favor. In 1907 the New York Legis-lature rejected a bill to preserve the old home of the state's first President. But then, in 1974, a greatful

Federal Government saw fit to declare Lindenwald not exactly a shrine, but a National Historic Site. Warren H. Hill, of the National Park Service, told the conference here that there was now money to begin the labor of restoration. Dr. Lehman suggested that a man's home could tell as much about his character as his portrait or edited papers. and indeed, when the sun rises in the East, or West, the architecture emerges ra-diantly fuddled, eminently antwrenish.

At the end of a three-hour speech to the Egyptian People's Assembly yesterday, President Anwar el-Sadat proposed that the Soviet-Egyptian Treaty of Friendship and Cooperation be abrogated. This was greeted with enthusiastic applause by assembly members, many of whom jumped to their feet and shouted, "Right now!" In his speech, Mr. Sadat cited grievances against the Soviet Union, but the breaking point came, he said, when the Soviet Unioo recently forebade India to provide Egypt with Indian-manufactured spare parts for Egypt's Soviet-made places. [Page I, Column B.]

In the 10th communique he has issued since proclaiming himself military governor of Lebanon last Thursday, Brig. Gen. Abdel Aziz al-Ahdab called on Parliament to elect a successor to President Suleiman Franjier and said that "until this is done we will hold on to our arms." But many members of Parliament, apparently featful of breaking the thread of legitimacy that holds the country together, seemed reluctant to choose a new President until the defiant Mr. Franjieli, who rejected a request of two thirds of the members of Parliament that be resign, steps down or is driven from office. [1:6.]

The French Government decided to withdraw the franc from the European joint currency float at a meeting early today in Brussels of the European finance ministers and central bank governors, it was announced by Belgium's Finance Minister, Willy de Clercq. The franc has been under heavy speculative pressure recently following sharp declines in the value of the British pound and the Italian lira. [1:7.]

The French leftist opposition made_sizable gains in nationwide local elections at the expeose of the Government majority beaded by President Valéry Giscard d'Estaing. On the basis of nearly completed results in the voting for local General Councils in virtually all of France's districts, called departments, the Socialist Party appeared to have made the major advance, winning what seemed to be 27 percent of the vote. [1:8:]

National

In many parts of the country proposals are being made for tha loosening of environmentai controls-mainly by Industry-as a way of helping the economy. But a check has found that instances of actual relaxation are relatively few and that a major reversal In the national effort for environmental improvement seems unlikely. Environmental trends in 14 states from coast to coast were scrutinized. [1:3-4.]

The state budget that leaders to the Leg-islature will submit to the full membership this week calls for the layoff of as many as 2,000 employees in the state operating agencies and a sizable retrenchment in the state's support of drug addiction programs, fiscal officials said. Aides in the Legislature insisted that there would not be a serious curtailment of state service, but one of Governor Carey's principal advisers said that the budget would "strip us of the administrative wherewithal" to run essential programs in correctional services, mental hygiene and other agencies. [1:1.]

An audience of women politicians made Representative Bella S. Abzug the star of the first full United States Senate candidates' forum of this election year. At a meeting in Syracuse, each of five Democrata who would like to run against the Conservative-Republican incumbent, Jame L. Buckley, made a carefully differentiated appeal to the women's division of the Democratic State Committee. Mrs. Abzug was on friendly terrain and she made the most of it. [1:2.] Crime increased in wealthier neighborhoods and declined in poorer sections of the city in 1975, according to a study by The New York Times. Many middle-income neighborhoods in Brooklyn, Queens and the Bronx had sharp increases in serious crime last year. At the same time, the rate of reported felonies decreased or leveled off in some inner-city areas that have long had serious crime problems. [1:3-5.]

Mary Besme, the Mayor's wife gave warm support to a demonstration outside Gracie Mansion by neighborhood residents who protested the nonenforcement of city laws on the leashing and curbing of dogs. The Carl Schurz Park Association sponsored a march of about 80 people around the Mayor's residence and the adjoining Carl Schurz Park which, Mrs. Beanle said, has become "an obstacle course" because of dog droppings. Planning for the annual parade intensifies starting in November, when meetings are scheduled oo a monthly hasis to pick the year's grand marshal, to send out the invitations to the units to participate, to arrange for policiog and to work on many other details.

More Policing To keep the parade from getting longer than it is, no new units are allowed to participate unless some other groups have dropped out to make room for them.

As for rehearing, that is up to the individual marching units. They are also responsible for paying their own way - their transportation, meal and uniform costs, for example.

While there is a definite heirarchy to the parade, the many bands have a way of winding up in different spots each year, depending on which unit has hired them in those cases where the unit does not have its own hand. This year there will be the skirl of 14 bagpipe bands, plenty of traditional drum-and-bugle outfits, flutes and fifes, glockenspiels and two all-accordion hands from Belfast, the latter made up of youths 8 to 18 years old. A green line will be painted in the middle of Fifth Avenue again this year along the route of march. The line, of soluble paint that will wash

Oo this Wednesday morning, following years-long cus-tom, units will arrive by bus and go to predetermined staging areas along 44th, 45th, 46th, 47th and 48th Streets on either sides of Fifth Avenue. Buses will wait for them along Third or Second Avenue at the end of the line of march.

Judge Comerford seeks to keep internecine Irish politics out of the parade hy having his aides move quickly to suppress attempts to flash suppress attempts to hish emotional slogans or any slogan but the one he him-self created for the parade hack io 1947: "England Get Out of Ireland."

However, there will be 119 such slogan-banners stretched across the full width of the march in front of various marching groups. The judge also notes that St Patrick is the patron saint of Catholics and Protestants alike, and adds that "you know he's huried up there in Armagh" in Northern Ireland, still part of the United King-

In preparing for this year's parade, Judge Comerford sent out printed messages to the approximately 800 delegates and 800 alternates of the participating groups in the metropolitan area.

And he made it plain that he was "rankled" anew by what he called another series of attempts by certain merchants and certain "intellectuals" to chase the parade off Fifth Avenue and into some such area as Central Park. Calling these critics "bigots," he told his delegates that he had rejected such requests. Back in the mid-1960's,

Fewer Seats But various Fifth Avenue merchants and other husiness interests have complained that the parade ties up traf-fic on a busy working day and that there is overcrowding on the sidewalks, plus some occasional hooligan-

This year, while still com-plaining that 'some bigots are still around," the judge and his aides are clearly determined to do all possible to have an orderly parade.

One obvious difficulty is that the big crowds that once had 49,000 bleacher seats at their disposal north of 60th Street, now have moved down into the already con-gested area of the mid-40's and the fifties. The city "took away our seats" some years ago on the ground that they were becoming ramshackle, Judge Comerford says.

Now, other than the reviewing stand with its 358 seats, there are only 2,400 bleacher seats along the Central Park wall. Son of a Farmer

An aide describes Judge Comerford as a disciplinarian who "expects an order to be carried out." The aide adds: "Of course, you know he went to school a lot."

YONKERS - An unemployed iron worker and his family, with the belp of state and county representatives, are fighting to keep their 12-room stucco house from sliding down a steep embankment onto the street below.

The owners, Joseph Krol, 53 years old, and bis wife, Mary, have been trying to save their home since a 90-foot retaining wall behind the house collapsed almost four years ago and slid down the hill, burying a neighbor's car and garage beoeath concrete, dirt and trees.

After the wall fell, Mrs. Krol said, she notified Yonkers city officials. "We were depending oo them to take care of it," she said, "but we never beard from them

Krols," he said, "so we have not made them replace it."

Estimates High

Estimates for rebuilding the wall, according to Mrs. Krol, have ranged from $30,000 to $100,000. In the last few months, soil on the hill has begun to erode noticeably, and deep cracks have appeared in the foundation and the psyement behind the house. With heavy spring rains, Mrs. Krol said, the house might col-

If you're the sort of per-son who has been literally speaking-yearning to meet just the right type, then keep in mind a place called Stone-

No, Stonehand is not a singles bar. But it is one of those institutions where love affairs flourish—in a general sense, the love affair with New York born of a passion for the city's variety; and in a specific sense, the love of some people for the unusual—in this instance, the stuff of printing.

Stonehand, a store that seems almost an informal museum, is filled with type, both wood and metal; with copper and zinc cuts, with brass galleys, with dies and mals, with chests of draw-ers with small compartments for hilding type; with plates engraved with music. There is a barrel full of Chinese type; a wood collage of He-brew letters; a chest full of line cuts arranged by cate-gory—children and bahies; sports; advertising; animals; boats, Americana.

The type is wonderfully decorative as a trip through Stonehand discloses. Collages are made to order beginning at $25; do it-ynurself kits are also sold, beginning at about $35. Individual pieces of wood type range in price from 50 cents for a piece just under an inch in height, to $1 per inch fur pieces above 20 inches.

Stonehand-named for the individual who locked up type on the stone, a table used in printing—refers to itself as a graphics boutique. It is that, and mnre, with an air of history exuding from wares drawn from decades past that beckon the tastes

These red-gray covers, with and edging and what appears to be an abstract Indian mn-tif in dark green, black and yellow running down the mid-ile, were once used to cover windows to minimize cold on trains in the dead of winter.

Or, they could be wrapped around passengers. A typical blanket measured 43 inches in length and 57 inches in width. The price is $40. The store, with an array of clothing in natural fibers

A Cozy Way to Make Salt-Rising Brea

An article on salt-rising bread made by a natural process of fermentation caused a yeasty rise in the volume of mail.

A recipe we printed on request used potatoes as the fermentation product, and Nelle Keys Bell of Indianapolis wrote to protest "that no real cook would add potatoes except in an emergency situ-ation."

"It makes good bread," she said, "but it isn't real saltrising, than which better bread has not yet been made."

She then contributes her favorite methods for making the bread, which, she adds, is the result of "borrowings" from several recipes, "One thing that must be stressed," Mrs. Bell cautions, "is the importance of even, consistent warmth in baking salt-rising bread. It requires a much higher temperature than yeast bread. I find that the heating pad, set on low, is the perfect solution. Most recipes call for water-ground meal, but with a heating pad plain nid commercial white commeal works beautifully."

RELIGIOUS SERVICES REMINDER

The Lubavitcher Rebbe, Rabbi Menachem M. Schneerson, has issued his moual call to Jews everywhere to observe the Purim festival in full accorlance with its meaningful and inspirational message.

Purim begins tonight, March 15, with nightfall, and continues until tomorrownight, March 16.

The Rehbe called upon Jewish spiritual leaders to inform their conpregants, and parents and educators to teach their children and students out the proper observance of Purim so that the Mitzvot and traditions of furim not go unheeded due to unawareness.

In addition to listening to the Megillah (Book of Esther) reading on the vening and morning of Purim, reciting 'Al Hanissim' in the prayers and brace After Meals, and having a festive Purim meal on Purim afternoon, there are two special precepts incumbent upon all men and women to observe thiring the morning or afternoon of Purim, namely, Mishloach Monos—sending food gifts to friends, and Mattonos LoEvyonim-donating to the needy.

These Mitzvot can easily be observed. In the case of Mishloach Monos, by giving at least one friend two kinds of edihles such as cake, fruit, beverages etc., while the minimal requirement in observing Mattonos LoEvyonim is to give alms to at least two needy people.

These Mitzvot also demonstrate the unity of the Jewish people, their mutual bond of kinship and ohligation to help one another in time of need. The Rebbe called upon Jewish women to observe these Mitzvot and observe Mishloach Monos hy sending these food gifts to women The Rehbe pointed out that Purim underscores the central role of the woman in Jewish life by virtue of the Megillah being named after Queen Esther-Megilas

The Rehbe emphasized that youngsters, girls below 12 and boys under 13, should also be taught to actually observe the Mitzvot. However, beyond this age everyone is obligated to fulfill them.

The Rebbe asked that Jews confined to hospitals or incarcerated in prison be visited on Purim and brought packets of edibles and coins with which they can observe the Mitzvot of Mishloach Monos and Mattones LoEvyonim. Since some prison regulations do not allow money to be given to prisoners, and in any case it is unlikely that there be a poor person in the prison or hospital to whom the charity can be given on Purim—the Rebbe suggested that the visitor take along a pushka (charity box) in which the prisoner or patient can deposit the money for Mattonos LoEvyonim during the hours of

The Rebbe expressed hope that observance of these Mitzvot will ultimately bring all Jews closer to Torah—its study and observance.

The last thing in the world that hospital workers want is to go out on strike.

But if Governor Carey keeps on doing what he's doing... he's going to force one on us.

Let's talk about what the Governor's

He wants to save money for New York State. Terrific idea and we're all for it. But it's the HOW he wants to save it that's got us and a lot of other people upset.

Not so long ago, the Governor said "our objective must be to make the best medical care available to more and more people." He was on the side of the angels.

But now he has proposed legislation to cut back essential medical services to the public (including outpatient, dental and emergency services) as well as freezing our wages, in voluntary hospitals and other health care institutions.

Frankly, we're not doing all that well caring for people in our health institutions today-that we can afford such cuts. George B. Allen, President of the Hospital Association of New York, predicts that a large segment of the population will bedeprived of essential health services; hospitals will be driven to bankruptcy; thousands of hospital workers will lose their jobs and the quality of life for all New Yorkers will take a further nosedive.

This legislation would also further reduce the already anemic pay scales received by interns and residents. The result would be to send them looking for positions in other cities and states where they can work for reasonable pay and under something less than the present 80-hour mankilling conditions.

OK, now what about our people?

Our union. District 1199, represents everyune but the interns, residents and nurses. That's 50,000 people-service, professional, technical, clerical and maintenance employees. All of them needed for the care of the sick and the invalid.

These are people ... 65% of them from minority groups... just out of the basement of poverty; off welfare and now working full time and paying their own bills. They're taxpayers and useful citizens. What will happen to them if the Governor's legislation goes through? What the Governor's bill proposes is that the process of collective bargaining be cancelled for our people; that they be frozen into their present, already low wage scales, that New York's poorest-always the victims-carry the load. For what? For rip-off artists who've exploited Medicaid to feather their own nests?

Well, Mr. Governor, no way! Especially since there are alternatives and they are not secrets.

What's the alternative?

Recently, the New York Times ran a story which said: "New computerized systems to save $300 million to $400 million a year in Statewide welfare and Medicaid costs for the State, Local and Federal Governments are being urged by the State's Department of Social Services.... A 109 page report submitted by Commissioner Stephen Berger said both systems were 'at least a half a decade overdue'."

Commissioner Berger said in the same story that the high cost of operating the State's program is due partly to "poor management, inefficiency, overutilization of the more expensive forms of care and deliberate fraud and abuse. . .

The new systems would be designed to halt these and other abuses. That, we say, is the way to go.

Furthermore, much of what the Governor proposes in his new legislation may even be illegal, according to the U.S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare, which said so publicly. And finally, if the Governor's proposed cut goes through, the State will wind up losing $159,000,000 in Federal support funds.

The lack of logic in the Governor's proposal is overwhelming; that's why we're fighting it. It just makes no sense for the people of New York; and certainly no sense for the hospital workers who care for the people of New York when they're sick.

We'll be demonstrating against this proposed legislation on Tuesday, March 16, in front of the Governor's New York headquarters (Sixth Avenue and 55th Street) to let him know how we feel.

To avoid a strike, we're ready to accept mediation, fact finding and even voluntary arbitration before an impartial arbitrator. We think that's reasonable and if you agree with us-why not tell Governor Hugh L. Carey about it. Write to him at the State Capitol, Albany, New York, and tell him what you think of this latest effort to save money off the backs of New Yorkers.

Sure, we all know that New York's got to save money. We're overspent, overbudgeted, overtaxed and on the way to being wiped out-if we don't do the right things. But is it right to save money (when there are alternatives) out of the hides of those who can least afford it? You know it isn't.

So ask the Governor to listen to reason... because the last thing in the world any of us want is a hospital strike,

Virtuoso Recital Given by Shura Cherkassky

By HAROLD C. SCHONBERG

A couple of months ago, Lazar Berman was being billed as a "legendary" pianist, and in some respects he was. But a really legendary pianist played at Hunter College over the weekend. Shura Cherkassky, now 65 years old, seldom plays in the United States, being seen mostly in Europe. His last appearance in this country took place about 10 years ago. But he was one of the extraordinary prodigies of his time; he was Josef Hofmann's star pupil, and among pianists he is considered one of the most remarkable workmen of the century. The key word is workman. tellectual planist. He is a throwback—a romantic who makes music in a very personal manner, an interpreter who by current standards breaks the line and does not ohserve the architecture of a piece; a dazzling technician more interested in sound than

All that may be true. But to judge Mr. Cherkassky'a playing by tenets of the present age would be as futile as pitting a 19th-century painting against a 20th-century abstraction. Mr. Cherkassky represents an old style of playing, in which color, tech-nique and beauty of sound were of paramount importance. He has grown up in that style, and he is one of the last before the public to keep it alive. .

By current standards, his performance of Chopin's great F minor Ballade may have been sectionalized. But it was a glorious perform-ance, eccentricities and all. RELIGIOUS SERVICES

ON THE SIGNIFICANCE AND RELEVANCE OF PURIM By the Grace of G-d In proximity to Purim, 5736

To Jewish Students G-d bless you all! Greeting and Blessing:

At this time, in proximity of Purim, you have surely given muck thought to the story of Purim, as related in the Megillah (the Book of Esther). This is just a reminder about the special significance of this festival for Jewish children and youths in all parts of the world.

The Megiliah relates how the wicked Haman rose to power and planned to destroy all the Jews, young and old, infants and women, that lived in all the lands of King Ahasuerus. It also tells how things turned out eventually, with Haman being hanged on the gallows he had prepared for Mordechai, the decree abolished, the complete change of the situation from one extreme to the other, which made these days into days of joy and festivity.

Our Sages of blessed memory relate the details of how it happened:

Mordechar and Esther, who knew what was happening, called upon all the Jews to fast and pray and return to G-d, to His Torah and His Mitzvos. And after Mordechai gathered thousands upon thousands of Jewish children and taught them Torah, and inspired their bearts with love of G-d and love of the Torah to the point of Mesiras Nefesh (supreme self-sacrifice)—then G-d annulled the decree and made Esther's efforts successful, so that "For the Jews." there was light, joy, gladness, and honor."

Thus, the Miracle of Purim mainly came about through the merit of the Jewish children and youths! One of the reasons why the Torah tells us these details—is to let everybody know, and everywhere and at all times (for the Torah is eternal) how great is the power of Jewish children who walk in the way of the Torah and Mitzyos to influence the fate of our people everywhere.

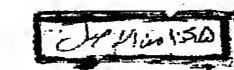

that wicked Haman. But we are one people, though scattered and spread among the nations; yet our laws are different from those of eny other people, ours being the law of our Torah and its Mitzvox, which is our life and the length of our days, that gives us the ability and strength to triumph over all our enemies, Each and every Jewish boy and girl, wherever they are, who learn Torah and do Mitzvos, add strength and power to all Jews everywhere—including, especially, in those countries where our enemies do not permit to teach Torah to Jewish children and youths, and to fulfill the Mitzvos. How fortunate you are that you are not in such a plight, G-d and your will! Dear children: Learn more Torah and increase your efforts in doing Mitzvos, and G-d's blessing will be with you and all your near and dear members of your family, may they prosper.

And in your Zechus (merit), all our people will benefit and will achieve, in the words of the Megillah: "For the Jews there was light, joy, gladness and honor"—so be it for us and for all Jews.

With love and blessing for a Joyous Purim, /Signed: Menachem Schneerson/

Puerto Rico had been a disaster area, Murray Brown reported the other day.

"The casinos are open in the afternoons now so there's no card action at the pool the Caribe Hilton anymore," he said. "Everybody's inside. They come back to New York whiter than when they left, f won a little, but hardly enough to pay for my room and my scoff."

Murray Brown, which is an alias, is a mechanic-the kind who robs you with a deck of cards or a pair of dice instead of a wrench. He is one of those fellows who. as Damon Runyon wrote, can make the jack of spades jump out of the pack and squirt seltzer water in your ear.

"I won $1,500 one night at the craps table at the Ca-ribe," he went on "When I came back the next night they wouldn't let me handle the dice. They just passed me by and give them to the next guy. 'How come?' I ssked. The pit boss just smiles. 'Por favor Señor,' he says. So I cash out and walk away from the table with my head

What had happened, he said, was that one of his best moves, his controlled roll, had been spotted, or at least guessed at. He had always regarded Puerto Rico as the softest touch in the world next to the casino at Abidijan in the Ivory Coast, which he doesn't like hecause few people who speak English play there. When Murray Brown tosses the dice in this way, one bounces legitimately across the table, out the other sort of skips, like a flat rock clam water, so across that it seldom comes up 1, 2 or 6. On the first roll, this eliminates the possibility of crapping out with a 2, 3 or 12, an adjustment of the odds in his favor that casinos disapprove of.

His previous southern excursion - to Miami during Orange Bowl week in search of big Texas gin rummy money — having also heen disappointing, Murray Brown decided to try something new when he returned to New York a monih ago.

"I got two partners, guys I've known for a long time, and we decided to open a place of our own," he said.
"A real bust-out joint. We sent a front man in to rent a nice furnished apartment for us on the West Side. We put in craps and card tables. Then we got in touch with a couple of Vegas luggers"men who find the customers

CASTRO IN GUINEA;

DAKAR, Senegal, March 14 (Reuters) — Prime Minister Fidel Castro arrived in Conakry, the capital of Guinea, to-day for a meeting with three African presidents, including Agostinho Neto of Angola, Conakry radio reported.

The radio, monitored here, said that Dr. Neto and President Luis Cabral of Guinea-Bissau - like Angola a former Portuguese territory — also arrived today for the meeting. President Sékou Touré of Guinea is host.

The radio said that the meeting was intended "to consoli-date relations of friendship and aolidarity among their peoples." Cubao troops helped Dr. Neto's Popular Movement for the Liberation of Angola to its victory in the Angolan civil Guioea, ruled by France until 1958 and aince then a vigorous advocate of black nationalist causes, ataunchly backed Dr. Neto's faction in its struggle for control and diplomatic recognition. Mr. Castro flew to Guinea from Algeria, where he ex-pressed admiration for the Polisario Front, the independence movement that has proclaimed Western Sahara, Spain'a former colony on the northwestern African coast, an independeot republic.

U.S. is Warned by the Shah Against Cutting Arms Flow

WASHINGTON, March 14 (UPI) — The Shah of Iran warned the Uoited States today that his country "can burt you as badly if not more so than you can hurt us" if the flow of American weapons to Iran is cut off.

In an interview conducted in Teheran for the magazine, U.S. News & World Report, the Shah criticized moves by Congress to impose an embargo on arms sales to the Persian Gulf region.

"If you try to take an unfriendly attitude toward my country, we can hurt you as bady if not more so than you can hurt us," he said. "Not just through oil," he added; we can create trouble for you in the region. If you force us to change our friendly attitude, the repercussions will be immeasurable." The Shah expressed doubts about the United States as an ally, saving, "I am afraid that today America's credibility is not too high. You look rather like a crippled giant. I only hope that after the election you can take decisions and

The only trouble, Murray Browo said, was that there had been few customers so far. The rent, which is $900 a month, the liquor and food they provide, the commissions to the luggers and the ladies of the evening who are hired to create an aura of glamour and excitement had more than eaten up the profits.

It's his theory that the stock market is sucking up what-ever loose money is around, but that as soon as profittaking starts and paper gains are converted into hard cash, he'll get his share. "Tbey'll never know what hit them," Murray Brown said. "It's a heist, a real whackout. Ail kind of magic tricks are going to happeo. One of my partners is a Vegas guy. He's a razzle player, and you could lose $5,000 olaying razzle like

While waiting for customers Murray Brown is busy thinking of new scams. One is IC find a doctor who will refer a terminally ill, but still mobile, patient to him, "We get $5,000, $10,000

Eclectic Repertory Policy Is Enhanced With Production of Horton's 'Beloved'

Sensibly-enough the Dance Theater of Harlem is pursuing a very eclectic policy for its reportory. This season it has added "The Beloved," a work by the late moderndance choreographer Lester Horton. I caught it at the Uris Theater on Saturday night when the program also included John Taras's "De-sign for Strings," Jerome Robbins's "Afternooo of a Faun" and William Scot's "Every Now and Then." "The Beloved" has been staged by the longtime Hor-ton specialist James Truitte, who years ago used to dance

DOLLAR BRAND GIVES JAZZ PIANO RECITAL

Dollar Brand, the South African jazz planist, has ap-peared in New York off and on for more than a decade, at times under the auspices of Duke Ellington and Ornette Coleman. But he badn't played here recently, so his recital Saturday oight at the Inter-Drive, was all the more wel-

Mr. Brand, who is also known watch, saophire pinlsie ring as Abdullah Ibrahim, plays extended piaco improvisations. The basis of his playing on Saturday was chordal—solid successions of chords reminiscent of hymns. From there ne would branch out into linear passages, hammering ostinatos, washes of clusters and dissonance and fragments of boogiewoogie and other jazz styles. At least on Saturday, Mr. Brand's playing seemed sometimes too sectional, with ideas sustained for a few minutes and then brokeo off, the gap nefore the next creative passage being filled with some other rather too obvious linking formulas. The overall effect was less unified and sustained than what Keith Jarrelt offers at his best, and slightly less dazzling technically. But Mr. Brand remains a performer weil worth hearing, a man possessed of a strong personal vision. JOHN ROCKWELL

In fact, Mr. Sedaka is by and large a delightful, even moving artist, and the two shows he gave on his 37th birthdey Satthe highly strung, nervy Lydia Abarca and Ronald urday night at Avery Fisher Hall were charming.

Mr. Sedaka redeems his genre for several reasons. First, his soogs have clever lyrics and wooderfully infectious tunes-Saturday's program was like an hour of unbroken "greatest hits." Second, his melodies have just enough soft-rock and rhythm-and-blues underpinnings high-heeled shoes, which must be a first. It is a well-constructed, insouciant work that ahows off its dancers— here cheerfully led by Sheila to avoid bonelessness. Special to The New York Times

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla.,
March 14 — Bowie Kuhn, the commissioner of baseball, said today he was "hoping" the training camps would be opened soon, perhaps in a couple of days, and promised that "the season will not be

But the labor negotiators in the shutdown sport, meet-ing a few yards away, later ended six more hours of their "summit conference," canceled a night session and insisted that the opening of the camps was "not immi-

The conflicting reports were given as some minorleague camps opened on schedule in Florida and Arizona. But for the 14th straight day, the only bigleaguers in action were the dozen players sitting in on the negotiations oo the game's legal structure.

The spring training bases now have been closed for two weeks after two months of deadlocked talks on the reserve system, which binds playera to their teams. The delay meant that at least one week of exhibition games elready bad been canceled, and only three and a half weeks remained until the reg-ular season was scheduled to start April 8.

Kuhn, whose scope of authority has been disputed in recent years by the players, appeared for tha first time on the troubled labor scene join the collective bergaining session, but he seemed re-laxed in sports clothes during an interview as rumors persisted that he would declare the camps open by Tuesday.

"I'm hoping the camps will be opened soon," he said in an interview down the hall from the negotiating room in the St. Petersburg Hilton. "But there's no basis for that report one way or another. I'll order the opening of the camps when I think that suf-ficient progress has been

"If the league presidents decide under their formula that sufficient progress has been made, then the camps might be opened. One thing the regular season will not be delayed."

As for the public's reaction to the prolonged dispute, Kuhn said: "I don't think the thing on the horizon." John Gaherin

'stay io touch" with them. His role in opening the camps would not be disputed by the 600 players, because they have charged the owners of the 24 teams with locking them out after a Federal court had decided against the owners in a landmark case oo the reserve rule. Some of the optimistic reports on the training camps came from owners, some from players. Most of them indicated that March 15 was a significant date, apparently because almost everybody agreed that it would take three weeks to get pitchers ready for the six-mooth season. Some of the rumors were precise, suggesting that Kuhn would intervece at 6 P.M. tomorrow and open the bases for work the next day. But despite the pressure building up, the oegotiators struggled through arother day trying to solve the two basic issues: How long can a tcam control a player? And how can any such agreement be made retroactive to cover the several hundred players who already have signed contracts for 1976?

The court ruled that teams could "reserve" players' services for only one year beyond their individual contracts. The owners insist that chaos would result one year from now when hordes of players become free agents. They have proposed eight years as the length of controlled servhas proposed six years; a seemed likely. But nobody knew what to do about the "current cootracts" already Marvin Miller, executive director of the players' associa-tion, suggested today that the sides make an ioterim "basic agreement" for one year — permitting the season to be played while a long-range formula was belog reached. But the club owners clung to their fear that "masses of players" would elect to sell themselves in the oneo market next year and opeo market next year and thereby disrupt the teams.

"I don't think there has been any change," comment-ed John Gaherin, the chief ed John Ganerin, the chief negotiator for the owners af-ter the meetings had ended early this evening. "We're still confronted by the same problems. We may be over some of the shock now. But you can't bargain with gran-ite."

With only one encounter left in the five-match series, tomorrow night in Indian-apolis, the United States holds a 107-77 lead and needs to win only one game in the five sets to clinch an overall victory.

The series is being scored under World Team Tennis rules, each game counting as I point regardless of the out-come in the set.

Rosemary Casals and Billie Jean King opened today's rout with a victory in the womens doubles. They took a quick 3-0 lead against Olga Morozova and Marina Kroshina and coasted to an easy b-3 victory.

Miss Casals then beat Miss Morozova, 6-4, in a singles match in which she won the last three games after trail ing, 4-3. She scored a 4-1 service break in the ninth Rongos wrote, "that someday soon I will be positive proof that coronary disease can be reversed, and the engiogram that Dr. Rosin will do on me when I return to California will show much bigger arteries with more blood flowing to

Such a Wonderful Feeling

"I got back to Honolulu Feb. 15 and in the next 12 days I ran a total of 125 miles. Today was a first for me, running 12 miles without stopping for a drink of water. I can now run 9-minute miles, which ie what I bope to do in the Boston Marathon. That will give me a time under 4

"There is so much tension building up for the Boston Marathon, being that it is the Bicentennial year, and the Medical Joggers Association of America has given me a red No. 1 for the run. I will be with Big Ben, as they call Dr. Rosin, and my blonde nurse from the San Pedro rehab program in California. She will ride a bike alongside me and carry my oranges and clothes.

During the Mission Bay marathon Dr. Rosin'a wife. who used to be a nurse, rode a bike alongside. It's such a wonderful feeling running a marathon when so many people are really and truly interested in what I am doing

"Mr. Pritikin told me ha is going to do research on retinitis pigmentosa, which made me feel good. I'm also hoping that with all this good running the circulation will bring back my good sight.
"There I go agaio, getting carried away. Anyway, I have an appointment with Dr. Eliot Bersen of the Boston. Eye and Ear Infirmary, the only men in the world that got a grant of over a million dollars to research for R.P. He is assistant head opthalmologist at Harvard. The appoint-

"We have a fairly good system of children's schools," Golenko said.

These 200 state-subsidized programs start beginners as young as seven years old with six hours of classes a week, at first having them only bounce a ball and handle a racquet to develop coordination. After two years of basic instruction, those who show promise move up.

"Since we don't have enough facilities, particularly indoors, we pay very close attention to selection," Golenko explained As the weaker children are weeded out in seasonal tests, classes decrease in size, and practice hours lengthen. of time for tennis.

For Russians who are more accustomed to the rough-and-tumble of hockey or soccer, tennis retains an intellectual image. It is most popular in Moscow, where actors and scientists like to play to keep in shape.

But tennis has also emerged in the industrial regions of the Ukraine. There are active training programs in Denetsk, home of Marina Kroshina, and in Dneprodzer-zhinsk. In Soviet Central Asia where temperatures 21-low outdoor play yearround,

Soviet tennis equipment suffers the same shortages and shoddiness that extends to other consumer goods. No metal racquets are produced. Of the 149,000 wooden racquets said to be manufactured annually, some are made in Moscow along with hockey sticks, others in Esto-nia by a concern that also makes skis. They are hard

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP)-The University of Iowa's wres-tling coach, Gary Kurtelmeier, says he hasn't yet fully realized that his Hawkeyes are National Collegiate champions for the second straight year.

"I expect we've been cheated out of the excitement of winning. It will be a slow-coming realization," Kurtelmeier said of the victo-ry. Iowa had entered last night's championship matches with the team title already clinched, during the after-noon's consolation finals. The Hawkeyes then added three individual titles and a second-place finish in the evening wrestling.

Iowa overcame the chal-lenge of the Big Eight cha-pion, Iowa State, which had won six previous titles. Iowa ended the tournament with 123.5 points to Iowa State's Chuck Yagla of Iowa suc-cessfully defended his title in the 150-pound division by outpointing Iowa State's Pete Galea, 5-0, after reaching the finals by scoring three pins and a decision. Yegla had Galea on his back with balf a minute to go and nearly got a fourth pin.

Yagla was selected by coaches as the outstanding wrestler in the tournament, which he entered undefeated for the year

The only other repeating champion was Mike Frick of Lehigh at 134 pounds. He defeated Michigan State's Pat Milkovich, who had won national titles in 1972 and 1974 at 126 pounds.

Lehigh's 177-pound champion last year, Mike Leiberman, managed only third place this year. He won the consolation final with a 4-2 decision over Sythell Thomp-son of California Polytechnic of San Luis Obispo.

baskethall tradition of outstanding big men that includes Kareem Abdul-Jubbar, but it was two little men who were the keys yesterday as Power defeated Tolentine 65-50, for the Catholic High Schools Athletic Association championship held at St. John's gymnasium in Jamaica. Queens.

Eddie Moss, a slick, 6-fnotleinch player, and Sean Can-ning, the 5-10 point guard, were the reasons Power was able to take its seventh championship flag back to its West 61st Street gymna-

This Power team wss wellmanned in the middle, too, by Larry Petty, a 6-10 junior with awesome strength and leaping ability. Petty had 13 points, 17 rebounds and two blocked shots as be won his duel with Charley Browne, Tolentine's 6-10 gentle giant. But Moss, with 19 points, and Canning, with 17, stole the big man's show.

"Eddie Moss played his best game of the season," said Power's coacb, Brendan Malone.

"I had to make up for said Moss my last game," said Moss who had only 4 points last Wednesday when Power defeated Rice to gain the final. Power swept to its title y winning its last 19 games. In that time the Panthers appeared to grow looser while the coach resorted to some superstition. He wore the same outfit for each of the 19 games.

"This is the loosest team I've ever had," said Malone.

Power Memorial has a long "I'd tell them how important a game was and they'd just look at me.'

They understood what the cosch was talking about yesterdsy. When he told his players that they would have to belp Petty guard Browne, they understood. The result was a collapaing zone defense with Petty in back and Moss usually in front. The result was that Browne, who had averaged more than 24 points a game, did not score in the first half and finished with 9 points.

"The game plan was simple," said Malone. "Deny Browne the hall."

In a futile effort to set the big man free, Tolentine's 5-7 point guard, Jim Measina, took 21 shots, almost begging for someone to guard him closely. No one did.

"We came up short," said Tolentine's coacb, Bob Aus-tin. "We don't bave that good a shooting team. We just couldn't put the ball in the hole." The Bronx school hit on only 24 of its 71 fieldgoal attempts. Power made 23 of 47, but had 19 points from the free throw line while Tolentine had only 2. In a desperate attempt to catch up. Tolentine was forced to foul.

The season is not over for: either team. Tolentine will plsy this weekend in a Knights of Columbus tournsment in Virginia. Power will participate in the first state-wide Catholic schools tour-replied: "It's a judgment thing. The Player Relations Committee for the teams will have to it. But I don't think the opening is imminent. We're a long way from having the key to the padlock. I don't see anything on the horizon."

One thing that disappeared from the horizon was the night session that had been considered by the two sides during the afternoon. Miller indicated at one point that "we might sit until 3 o'clock in the morning." But that owners' team retired for a caucus, emerged late in the day and then Gaherin joined Miller for a aidewalk conferenca under the palm trees outside the botel.

When it broke up five minutes later, they announced: "No night meeting. We'll re-sume the talks at 11 o'clock by 19 points early in the third quarter, rallied behind the shooting of Earl Monroe and Walt Frazier but could get no closer than 6 at 96-90 midway in the fourth period.

Monroe pumped in 14 points in the Knicks' big third quarter and wound up with a game-high 27. Brown, who scored only 9 points in the first half, broke loose for 9 more in the final period to help turn back the Knicks' rally.

The victory completed a season's four-game sweep for the Sonics, who now have beaten New York six straight games over two seasons.

The play of Frazier and Mooroe partially made up for another lackluster performance by a former Soote, Spencer Haywood, Haywood, who faced poorly in Seatle on the Knicks' previous visit after his trade to New York last September, could manage only 6 points this time, all in the first balf.

Stenmark Takes World Cup Ski T nershado

By MICHAEL STRAUSS

ASPEN, Colo., March 14-Ingemar Stenmark, the 20year-old Swedish skiing star who learned to race on a small slope overlooking his home, beat the top competi-tors from the Alpine oations at their own game today.

The freckle-faced Scandinavian captured the two-run Roch Cup slalom this afternoon and clinched the overall men's World Cup championship after only two full sea-sons of competition in the international series. He dethroned Gustavo Thoeni of Italy, the victor of the men's World Cup in four of the previous five seasons.

"I made up my mind to and settle this thing " said the pleasant-manpered Stenmark, who needed today to clinch the title. "I drove hard in both of my runs. I didn't want to move on the Canada, if possible with the championship still in doubt." Stenmark's impressive triumph-he posted the fastest times in each of his descents on the serpentine courses ended all doubt about this winter's overall World Cup titleholders. Last weekend, Rosie Mittermaier of West

Germany, clinched the wo-men's title at nearby Copper

As a result, the World Cup skiing tour moved to Quebec City with only minor titles at stake. In Canada, the racers will compete at Mount Ste. Anne starting Wednesday and end the series with head-to-head parallel races at nearby Lac Besuport. The second course week after, they will be seen

Jurmoil Overshadows Southern Africa Riches FARMERS ENTER | Mild Winter Averts

By BRENDAN JONES

The struggle for black-majority rule in of southern Africa, intensified by the ngolan civil war and new presscres on white-minority government, derscores another issue: the future of region's vast economic riches. Along with Zaire and Tanzania, neighboring countries affected by the recent conflict, southern Africa is one of the world's Analysis few areas that still have andant netural resources. These include ery important mineral, a vast hydroelect power supply, fisheries and extensive cp and pasture lands.

ind, according to many experts, the rion has considerable untapped resces, including petroleum, which only rently has been found in Angola's Cabinda rion and in Zaire. Airline crews flying or the region's hinterlands frequently see a magnetic "pull" on their instru-mts. They believe it is caused by undiscered ore deposits.

a area, the 12-nation regioo covers 36,072 square miles, a little more than size of the United States. Southern Aca's population is compartively small, faling about 100 million, with roughly south of this in the Republic of South face. Whites make up less than 5 percent of the total—about 42 million in South face and only 300,000 in Rhodesia. the regioo is the world's No. I producer manganese, diamonds, gold, chrome, balt and platinum.

South Africa, its only fully developed instrial power and chief mineral pro-per, alone accounts for 60 percent of aid gold production with a recent annual al of 25 million ounces. The country also become the third-ranking producer of issue, are highly interdependent economically. Six of the region's nations are land-locked. Of these, Zambia and Rhodesia have become highly vulnerable to disruption of the railwey networks that are vital to the area's trade.

Southern Africa's nations, despite all differences arising from the racial

Mozambique's action in closing its borders to Rhodesia, thereby severing Rhodesia's rail access to the ports of Beira and Maputo (formerly Lourenco Marques), is clearly use of an economic weapon. Rhodesia has rail routes left open only to South Africa, which now can exert economic pressure to make Rhodesia reach a settlement with its black majority.

By such action, Prime Minister John Vorster of South Africe, may possibly de-lay pressures for change in South Africa, while trying to revive efforts at coopera-tion with black Africa that were shattered by South African intervention in Angola.
In addition to a 40 percent decline in world copper prices, Zambia and Zuire, both major exporters of copper, have suffered economic crises becouse of war damage to the Angolan section of the Benguela railway. The line, their main export route, stopped running in August. For Zambia, the alteroetive route of the Tan-Zam railway to Dar es Salaam still needs strengthening of its roadbed to carry copper. The line, a showpiece of Communist Chinese aid in Africa, was completed in October.

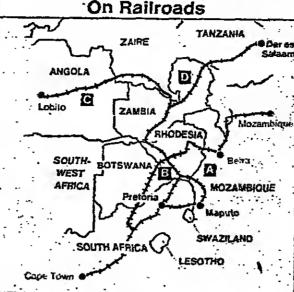

At the moment, war and world recession are having sharply adverse effects on all of southern Africa's countries. Angola, though possessing substantial resources such as iron ore, oil diamonds and coffec, is in a state of economic chaos because of the war and the flight of skilled Portuguese managers and workers. ## Southern Africa's Dependence

The New Hork Times

Mezambique's closure of her border with Rhodesia has severed tail connections to the ports of Betra and Maputo which had handled one-third of Rhodesia's trade.

 Only rail routes now open to Rhodesia connect with South Africa. One passes through Botswars and the other, is a new direct line. This allows South Africa to apply more pressure for compromise settlement by Rhodesia. The Benguela railway, vital to copper shipments by Zambia and Zaire, has been closed since August because of war damage to the Angolan section and a stoppage of port operations at Lobito.

D For Zambis, there is an alternative route, the TanZam railway to Oar cs Satiam, Tanzania. The line, a chowpiece of Communiat Chinuse aid in Aluca, was completed in October, but part of the roadbed needs strengthening before d can carry copper. Shipments, in any case, would be limited by extreme port congestion at Dar es Salaam.

KINGSTON, Jamaica-Along the loose chain of Caribbean Islands lying be-tween Florida and South America, the tourist is being woodd with special ardor this season.

The people of Jamaica, an island where tourism is the third largest industry after bauxite and sugar, are under constant exhortation from radio appeals to be nice to tourists.

Competition among the islands for the tourist dollar is growing sharper, with oewer developments on some of the smaller islands challenging the traditional reserves. sorts.

In addition, the Caribbean governments themselves have been taking a stronger hand in the tourist industry, acquiring resort hotels and otherwise arranging for historical interest. "We get tired of sitting on a beach a lot quicker," explained the island's director of tourism, Adrian Robinson. Black vis-itors already account for 11 percent of the island's American tourists, about three times the proportion to be expected from the group's economic strength, Mr. Robinson said.

At home, Jamaicans them-selves are being increasingly lured to their own island resorts by special lower rates for residents.

These developments else-where also mark the pursuit of the tourist dollar: The Bahamas and Guade-

What expenses are actually deductible? More than the salary of a baby sitter or other custodian of the dependent can be included in the list. All direct household costs when the child is at home such as the wages of a cook or maid-are also eligible for inclusion.

The warnings here fall into two groups: Peripheral home expenses, such as the salary of a gardener or chauffeur, are not deductible. Nor are funds paid to a relative, as defined by the Internal Revenne Service.

Making this type of deduction even more advantageous is the fact that certain outside the home care costs for a child under 15 can be used as a tax offset. Tuition expenses for a nursery schoolor day-care center (including lunch), day camp and a baby sitter who takes care of a child in her own home are all deductible.

2 Views of Economic System

The Advertising Council, which will soon be launching its massive public service campaign to educate the na-Big 'Squoze' Campaign tion on the free enterprise system, is now opposed by an organization that might effectively keep it out of the broadcast media. The Peoples Bicentennial the English language. Commission, a radical alternative to the official Government group, has decided to prepare advertising to coun-ter what it calls a "massive propaganda campaign to sell the corporate view of the American economic system." Jeremy Rifkin, its antiwar activist founder, concedes that he has not seen any examples of the proposed Advertising Council campaign, which is being done by Compton Advertising, but he says he's sure he knows what it will contain.

What be wants to present, be said, are economic alterna-tives and the raising of such issues as economic concentratico and industrial pollution.

The threat to the broadcast portion of the Advertising Council campaign comes from the fact that Mr. Rifkin's organization plans to ask for free time for its own advertising under the "fairness doctrine."

This could cause broadcasters who are willing to run both campaigns to stay away from the Advertising Coun-

That's what happened back in 1971 when the Advertising Council sponsored a campaign in behalf of the National League of Families of American Prisoners and Missing in Southeast Asia, a cam-paign created by the SSC&B agency. There were some people who thought the effort had been politically inspired by the Nixon White House, and a groop called Families for Immediate Relief brought out counter commercials.

Mr. Rifkin, who has been described by a Washington observer as "the best P.R. man in town," said that his television spots would be done by the Public Advertising Council and the radio spots by a group called In the Public Interest.

The beart of the Advertising Council's campaign will be a booklet called "The American Economic System and Your Part in It."

The Advertising Council, which has already unveiled research to show that Americans are generally ignorant of their economic system, got the original seed money for the campaign from the Commerce Department.

The product is called Squoze, which is the company's idea of the past tense of squeeze — it has squeezed out half the sugar and half the calories.

Pillsbury plans a "multi-million-dollar" campaign for the national introduction of the new product into the $300 million category, and it has named W. B. Doner & Company, Detroit, as its agency. Most of the advertising will be on patterning. tising will be on network television. This will he bolstered by spot TV and "a heavy use" of newspapers.

Among the Squoze competitors will be Funny Face, another Pillsbury product.

ATRODUCING TIME INNOVATIONS #301 & #305

TIME over the years has introduced 300 different ways to make the magazine more flexible, more efficient, and more directly suited to a specific need. The two newest:

TIME T. The only magazine edition in America that goes exclusively to selected subscribers who have identified themselves as members of top management. And with a circulation of 300,000, TIME Treaches more of top management than do Forbes, Business Week, Fortune or Newsweek E. Its black & white page rate of $6,990 is considerably lower than any of theirs.

TIME Z. The biggest ultra-selective medium in America. It goes to 1.2 million TIME subscribers (average household income: $27,000) living in 1,414 of the nation's most affluent ZIP Code areas. The cost of a black & white page is only $14,830, which means that a 13-time schedule in TIME Z comes in for less than $200,000.

These new editions underscore both the desire and the capability of TIME to give advertisers target marketing opportunities unmatched by any other magazine.

TIME. Where innovation is nothing new.

These statistical improvements, police officials said, were due to a variety of factors, ranging from use of anticrime patrols to more stabilized populations with deeper community roots. Despite the downward trend in these precincts, the prospect of becoming a crime victim is four to five times greater in a city slum neighborhood than in most other residential sections, according to police data.

Police Cuts No Factor

Almost all officials interviewed in the survey said they doubted that last year's crime upsurge was related to police personnel cuts. Because of the police force to about 26,800 officers and supervisors at the nod of the year.

In fact, major crimes rose faster during the first half of the year, when the Police Decime areas of Bedford-Stuyvesant and downtown Brook-partment had more manpower and before dismissals had begun.

Instead of reacting to the poor ratings in a way that would bespeak panic or insta-bility—that is, with a wave of dismissals or a drastic reorganization of staff—NBC has met the crisis by bringing hack into the company Paul L. Klein, an executive who during most of the 60's had been the netof the 60's had been the net-work's expert on audience re-search. Mr. Klein, with the title of vice president of mar-keting and planning, will take part in the selection and scheduling of programs for next

In tha meantime, the psycho logical effect of the move is to restore confidence in NBC by the advertising industry, since Mr. Klein enjoys the reputation of a brilliant strategist.

When business is exceptional, management anxieties are few. A chief worry of the network leaders today is whether the sales volume can be equaled in 1977.

S.I. Boy. 18, in Parked Car Shot by an Off-Duty Officer

An 18-year-old Staten Island

youth was wounded yesterday when an off-duty correction of-ficer's gun went-off as he was investigating a parked car in which the youth was sitting. The officer, Michael Santarella, 29, who works on Rikers Island, reportedly had drawn his gun and identified bimself to the youth in the car which was parked in an alley near his home at 315 Nicholas Avenue, in the Port Richmond area. The car then lurched forward, knocking the officer to the ground and causing his gun to go off, the police said.

The wounded youth, Wayne DeCroti of 50 Heberton Avenue, was taken to St. Vincent's Hos-pital, where he was listed as in fair condition, with a neck wound:

Ebullient 'Superbowl'
Is on Channel 13

By JOHN J. O'CONNOR Contrary to surface impressions, it's not all imports and old movies oo public television's current fundraising festival Standard staples such as "Upstairs, Downstairs" and "The Adams Chronicles" remain part of the schedule In additioo, there is a scattering of some domestic specials. One of the more entertaining, certainly more ebullient, is "Superboyl" produced for WNET/ 13/by TVTV, the video group tight gave this land "Lord of the Universe," "Gerald Ford's /merica" and an interview with a fugitive Abbie Hoff-

"Superbowl," being shown tonight at 9:30, was recorded during the 10 days that ended with the playing of Super Bowl X in Miami. The TVT' organization was joined in the effort by Great Balls of Fire, a California video group. In all, 42 people worked on the project, wandering from locker rooms to hotel suites, from partice fields to the game itself. One portion of the program, using black and white tape, was shot by several Pittsburgh Steelers players, who had been lent the video equipment.

Given the record of the "experimental" TVTV group, it might reasonably be expected that "Superbowl" would dwell on the offbeat, on the social grotesqueries begging for sarcastic exposure or, at the very least, smug patronization. And "Superbowl" does include numerous choice examples: The fans dressed in ridiculous costumes, the team owners and assorted corporate executives indulging in conspicious consumption, the dumpy groupies flirting with the players and, infecting everything, the incessaot hoopla.

But that much is already onvious, reported unto instant boredom. "Superbowl," while hardly ignoring the circus aspects of the event, goes a little farther, it gives the participants an opportunity, sometimes extended, in provide their own interpretations of the event. The result, perhaps unintentional, is a portrait of some surprisingly articulate and atractive

Several of the players are ratural performers, Jean Fugett of he Dallas Cowboys introduces some of his teamnates with appealing charm and good humor at the beginning of the program. Lynn Swann of the Steelers, who turned out to be the hero of the game, sings "Moon River" and later traces the sources of the various scars on his body with a complete lack of affectation.

Interestingly enough, most of the spectators and partic-pants simply refuse to be defensive or apologetic before the video cameras. Even the personnel of CBS Sports, which cooperated fully with TVTV, appears to be unusually self-assured. A CBS game of touch football is given friendly tongue in cheek treatment by TVTV reporters, bot the CBS crews remain unflappable.

The visual organization of "Superbowl" is occasionally coofusing. Specific identifications tend to be cursory, and the football outsider will find it impossible to determine which player, or even which team, is being displayed on screen. But the overall occasion, the artifically inseminated annual ritual, is projected clearly and quite delightfully.

U.S. HINTS CRIMES BY AIDES OF ACTION

Special to The New York Times
WASHINGTON, March 14—
The Justice Department has concluded that possible criminal violations of Civil Service regulations were committed by employes of ACTION, the Federal volunteer-service ageocy, io efforts to cover up an influence-peddling scheme four years ago.

A report by the U.S. Civil Service Commission io December 1975, following an investigation of charges by 52 of the agency's employees, found that the agency had a system that turned Civil Service jobs into political appointments.

The commission found that the agency maintained a file system that enabled it to place qualified and politically reliable officials in order to gain firm political control of the agency—io violation of Civil Service regulations.

The Civil Service Commission found that some of the files had been destroyed, however, and reported this to the Justice Department.

In a letter ated March II to Representative Augustus F.

Runs ring around Rhoda.

When Newsweek plus Time can deliver more women 18 to 49 than Rhoda can, it's time to rethink television.

How does an advertiser run rings around Rhoda —rating-wise?

With Phyllis? With Maude?

If it's women 18 to 49 you're after, you can do it with Newsweek plus Time. Which just might surprise you. But check the figures with your media planning people.

Newsweek alone delivers 5.7 million women 18 to 49, for a rating of 12.5.

Add Time, and you have an unduplicated audience of 9.8 million or a rating of 21.3. Which not only runs rings around Rhoda, but places the Newsweek plus Time combination up there with the top shows for this important demographic group.

A look at the ratings and you'll agree: the combination of Newsweek plus Time is one of the strongest media buys you can make today.

Among adults 18 to 49 it has an unduplicated rating of 25.8, larger than that of any regularly scheduled TV show.

And among men 18 to 49 it soars to 30.7. You can't beat it except with a World Series game, the Super Bowl or an occasional network special.

But there's a lot more to newsweeklies than ratings.

Whether you buy just Newsweek or Newsweek plus Sports Illustrated, Business, Week or Time, you're buying an audience you can't reach that efficiently with television alone.

Look at any of the studies. Newsweekly readers are younger, better educated, more affluent. They do more. They buy more.

And, something else to consider, they can spend more time with a good, persuasive ad in the thoughtful environment of the newsweeklies than with one that flashes briefly by during an interruption in the entertainment.

For advertisers faced with rising costs and limited availabilities, the newsweeklies offer a strong alternative. Newsweek alone. Or Newsweek plus Time. Or (recognizing the effectiveness of a good print/TV mix) Newsweek plus Time plus Rhoda.

A combination like that runs rings around practically everything.
